

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

"ARNOLD'S GREEK AND LATIN SERIES.—The publication of this valuable collection of clas sical school books may be regarded as the presage of better things in respect to the mode of teaching and acquiring languages. Heretofore boys have been condemned to the drudgery of going ever Latin and Greek Grammar without the remotest conception of the value of what they were tearning, and every day becoming more and more disgusted with the dry and unmeaning task; but now, by Mr. Arnold's admirable method—substantially the same with that of Ollendorff—the moment they take up the study of Latin or Greek, they begin to learn sentences, to acquire ideas, to see how the Romans and Greeks expressed themselves, how their mode of expression differed from ours, and by degrees they lay up a stock of knowledge which is utterly astonishing to those who have dragged on month after month in the old-fashioned, dry, and tedious way of learning ianguages.

"Mr. Arnold, in fact, has had the good sense to adopt the system of nature. A child learns his own language by imitating what he hears, and constantly repeating it till it is fastened in the memory; in the same way Mr. A. puts the pupil immediately to work at Exercises in Latin and Greek, involving the elementary principles of the language-words are supplied—the mode of putting them together is told the pupil—he is shown how the ancients expressed their ideas; and then, by repeating these things again and again—iterum iterumque—the docile pupil has them indelibly impressed upon his memory and rooted in his understanding.

"The American editor is a thorough classical scholar, and has been a practical teacher for years in this city He has devoted the utmost care to a complete revision of Mr. Arnold's works, has corrected several ecors of inadvertence or otherwise, has rearranged and improved various matters in the early volumes of the series, and has attended most diligently to the accumite printing an inechanical execution of the whole. We anticipate most confidently the speedy adoption of these works in our schools and colleges."—Cour. & Enq.

Arnold's Series of Classical Works has attained a circulation almost unparalleled in England. being introduced into nearly all the great Public Schools and leading Educational Institutions. They are also very highly recommended by some of the best American Scholars, for introduction into the Classical Schools of the United States. They are already used in the University of the City of New-York, Rutger's Female Institute, N. Y.; Union College, Schenectady; Mt. St. Mary's College, Md.; Yale College, New-Haven; and numerous large schools throughout the Union.

With Reference to Ollendorff's German Grammar. By G. J. Adler, Prof. of the German Language and Lit. in the University of the City of New-York. (In Press.)

GRAHAM.—ENGLISH SYNONYMES;

Classified and Explained, with Practical Exercises. By G. T. Graham, author of "Helps to English Grammar," etc. Edited, with illustrative authorities, by Henry Reed, Prof. of Eng. Lit. in the University of Pennsylvania. One volume, 12mo.

"It is impossible not to praise both the design and execution of this work. It fills a chasm in our scholastic literature. Previous to this publication, we had but three works of the kind, whether for young or old students, (Trussler, Taylor, Crabb,) and not one of them is practical enough for elementary purposes."—London Athenaum.

GESENIUS.—HEBREW GRAMMAR, BY RODIGER.

Gesenius's Hebrew Grammar. Enlarged and Improved by E. Rödiger, Prof. of Oriental Literature in the University of Halle. Translated by Benj. Davies, Doct. in Philosophy of the University of Leipsic; with a Hebrew Reading Book, prepared by the translator, carefully reprinted from the fouteenth edition, (just published in London, by Bagster.) Complete in one handsome 8vo. volume.

"The excellence of Gesenius's Grammar is universally acknowledged. Its adaptation, both in matter and method, to meet the wants of Hebrew students, is triumphantly established by the fact that no fewer than thirteen editions have been sold. The new edition, from which this translation has been made, was prepared by Prof. Rödiger, and appeared in 1845. Among living Philologists, there are but few names in higher repute than Rödiger's. His edition of this Gramma may therefore be supposed to contain some real improvements, as well as changes and additions and this presumption is fully borne out by a comparison with the thirteenth edition, which was itself improved by the author's last revision. The addition of the Reading Book, as an introduction to the translating of Hebrew, will prove (the compiler hopes) of material service to the student in mastering the Grammar and acquiring the language."—Ext. from Translator's Pref

"M. Guizot, in his instructive Lectures, has given us an epitome of modern history, distinguished by all the merit which, in another department, renders Blackstone a subject of such peculiar and unbounded praise—a work closely condensed, including nothing useless, omitting nothing essential; written with grace, and conceived and arranged with consummate ability."—Boston Trans

PREFACE.

THE plan and object of the present volume are so fully and so satisfactorily stated by Mr. Arnold in his Preface, that it is quite superfluous for the American Editor to add any thing to what he has there said. It is simply incumbent on him to state, that he has bestowed much care and attention upon the volume in order to perfect its arrangement and render it uniform with the other works of the series, and also to ensure, as far as possible, correctness, neatness, and even elegance of typography. While he can hardly dare to promise himself that there is an entire absence of errors of this kind, he ventures to express the hope that nothing of consequence has escaped attention, and that the Practical Introduction to Greek Prose Composition will be found equally acceptable and equally valuable with any of its predecessors in the Arnold Series of Classical Books for Schools and Colleges.

PREFACE

TO THE

ENGLISH EDITION.

THE plan of this Introduction requires some explanation. Its object is to enable the student, as soon as he can decline and conjugate with tolerable facility, to translate simple sentences after given examples and with given words; the principles trusted to being those of imitation and very frequent repetition. It is at once a Syntax, a Vocabulary, and an Exercise-book; the Syntax being in substance that of Buttmann's excellent School Grammar.

One object I have steadily kept in view, that of making the general construction of sentences of more importance than the mere government of cases, which is nearly all that most Exercise-books pretend to teach. The Exercises are adapted for vivá voce practice; but if the book is so used, they should by all means be written down afterwards. The Vocabularies, if possible, but at all events the Examples, should be committed to memory and carefully kept up.

It is due to Mr. Ollendorff, whose Introduction to German has appeared in English, to state that the publication of a work like the present was suggested to me by the advantage I myself derived from the use of his book. I had originally drawn it up exactly on his plan; but the probable expense of publication deterred me, for some time, from publishing it in that shape.* The present work differs therefore from his, in requiring from the pupil a general acquaintance with the Accidence.

For the convenience of those who may wish to use the Syntax as such, I have added a complete set of Questions to the work.

T. K. A.

Lyndon, 1841.

^{*} The very great success of this work, and the similar one on "Latin Prose Composition,"—which are now used at all, or nearly all, our public schools,—has encouraged the author to send to press the more elementary Exercises here alluded to, under the title of a "Practical Introduction to Greek Accidence." [This volume forms the "First Greek Lessons," carefully revised and improved by the American Editor.]

EXPLANATION OF ABBREVIATIONS, &c.

B., K., M., R., T., denote respectively the Greek Grammars of Buttmann, Kühner, Matthiä, Rost, and Thiersch. Kr. stands for Krüger.

E. refers to the Eton Greek Grammar.

R., after a declinable word, stands for root. Thus, your, R. your, means, that the regular terminations are to be added to youar.

V. refers to Vömel's Synonymisches Wörterbuch.

A Greek letter added after a verb, shows that the simpler root (as it appears, for instance, in aor. 2) ends in that letter.

PRACTICAL INTRODUCTION

TO

GREEK PROSE COMPOSITION.

§ 1. On the Tenses.—The Article.

1. It is taken for granted that the student knows:—

(1) That the verb agrees with its nominative case in number and person.*

(2) That every adjective word—whether adjective, participle, pronoun, or article—must agree with its substantive in gender, number, and case.

(3) That the transitive yerb is followed by the accusative.

(4) That one substantive depending upon another is put in the genitive case.

(5) That any verb may have the same case after it as before it, when both words refer to the same person or thing.

2. The Imperfect, besides the usual meaning of that tense,† is used to express continued or repeated actions, taking place in past time.

3. The Aorists express actions completed in past time.‡

* But a dual nominative is often joined with a plural verb; and a neuter plural generally takes a singular verb.

† The Imperfect expresses 1) an action continuing during another action which is past; 2) an action continued by being frequently repeated; and (occasionally) 3) an action begun or intended, but not completed. (See Jelf's Greek Gram. Vol. II. p. 53.)—Am. Ed.

‡ The Aorists mark actions simply past, without reference to other actions, at the same or a different time; as ἔγραψα τὴν ἐπιστολήν, " I wrote the letter (without specifying time or circumstance). Hence, the aorists referring to time past indefinitely, are used to denote momentary acts, and also actions repeatedly done in past time. In this latter case it may be rendered by the present or by the phrase "to be wont, or accustomed," &c. (See Jelf's Greek Gram. Vol. II. p. 57)—An. Ed.

Hence the Aorist is used of momentary and single actions; the Imperfect, of continued and repeated ones.

The dog bit him (aor.): the dog howled all night (imperf.)
Oss. The Imperfect (of habitual actions) is often rendered by 'used to,' &c.

4. The Perfect expresses actions continued or remaining in their effects up to the present time.

a) Hence the aor. is nearly our perfect indefinite (the perf. formed by inflection): the perf. our perfect definite (or perfect with 'have').

- b) But when the connection of the past with the . present is obvious from the context, the agrist may be used for the perfect; or, in a narrative, for the pluperfect.
- c) It is only when a particular stress is to be laid on the time of the occurrence, that the perfect or pluperf. must be used. All this is, however, greatly influenced by euphony.

5. A governed genitive is often placed between an article and its noun.

6. τὸ τῆς ἀρετῆς κάλλος, the beauty of virtue. ό τὰ τῆς πόλεως πράγματα πράττων, he who transacts (or manages) the affairs of the state. In this way two and even three articles stand together.

7. ὁ πράττων, (the person doing =) he who does.

Hence the artic. with a participle is equivalent to a personal or demonstrative pronoun with a relative sentence. Thus, ά πράττων, equivalent to έκεῖνος δς ποάττει, he who does. τοῦ πράττοντυς, of him who does.

Pl. of apartoures, equivalent to excise of apartous, those who do. τῶν πραττόντων, of those who do.

8. Vocabulary 1.

Virtue, Beauty, City, Thing or affair, άρετή, ης, ή. κάλλος, εος, τό. πόλις, εως, ή. πράγμα, ατος, τό.

^{*} Nouns in μx from verbs, generally denote the thing produced by the set. They may be compared with the pass. participle (τὸ πεπραγμένον).

To do, transact, manage, Wonder, or am surprised δαυμάζω (with fut. mid.,

Often, frequently, πράττω, do, has also the intransit. meaning of our to be doing well or ill: i. e. to be prosperous or unfortunate. In this sense it has the perf. 2. πέπραγα. The a is long throughout.

Exercise 1.

9. I admire the beauty of the city. The citizens are doing well. I have often admired the beauty of the cities. The judge often admired the beauty of virtue. I admire those who transact (7) the affairs of the state. He transacts the affairs of the state ill. The citizens are doing ill. I have often admired the virtue of the citizen. The citizens admire the virtue of the judge.

10. (a) Proper names often take the article, if they are the names of persons well known.

Hence the names of Deities, Heroes, &c., generally take the article; and the names of persons recently mentioned.

11. (b) But if the proper name is followed by a description which has the article, the proper name is without the article, unless it is to be expressed em-

b Nouns in της of the first decl. from verbs, denote the male doer of the action: those from substantives denote a person standing in any near relation to what is denoted by the substantive: as πολίτης from πόλις. Those in ιτης from subst., have the ι long. Κρῖτής is from κρίνω.

phatically, as being well-known, or as having been previously mentioned.

12. (c) The Greek has no indefinite article (our 'a').

- (d) Our 'a' should be translated by τ is, when a particular person or thing is meant, though not named: in other words, wherever we might substitute 'a certain' for 'a'.
- 13. (e) The subject d generally has the article, the predicate not.

14. (a) ὁ Σωκράτης, Socrates; αί 'Αθηναι, Athens.

(b) Σωχράτης ὁ φιλόσοφος, Socrates the Philosopher.

(c) ἴππος ἔτεκε λαγών, a mare brought forth a hare.

- (d) γυνή τις δονιν είχεν, a woman (or, a certain woman) had a hen.
- (e) ἡ κόρη ἐγένετο ἀσκός, the girl became (or, was turned into) a leather bottle.

This arises from the nature of a proposition. We usually assert of a particular thing that it is included, as an individual, in a particular class; not that it is the whole of that class.

Wine, olvos, b ov, o. Boy, son, παῖς, παιδός, δ. To have. έχω.¹ To bring forth, or (of birds) ? τίχτω^k (τεχ). to lay, Damsel, maiden, κόρη, ης, ή. Leather-bottle, ἀσχός, οῦ, ὁ. Become, γίγνομαι (γεν). An egg, ώόν, οῦ, τό. Three, τρεῖς, τρεῖς, τρία.

Exercise 2.

16. I admire the beauty of the hen. A (14. (d) boy had a hare. The water was turned into (= became) wine (14. (e). The hen laid three eggs. A certain damsel had three hens. I admire the virtue of the maiden. The hare was turned into (= became) a horse. The boy admires the beauty of Athens. The citizens admire the beauty of the woman. I admire those who transact^{1*} the affairs of Athens. I have often admired the virtue of Socrates. I admire Socrates the philosopher. The woman shall have a hen. The water has been turned into (= become) wine. A certain judge has three hens.

ί ζω, ξζω and σχήσω, ξσχηνα. Imperf. είχον: aor. ξσχον, ἐσχέθην. [ἔσχον, σχές (σχέ in compounds), σχοίην, σχῶ, σχεῖν, σχών].

b olvos, with the digamma Folvos, vinum. So wov, wfov, ovum.

τίκτω, (τέξω) τέξομαι, τέτοκα, έτεκον, ετεκόμην.

¹ γίγνομαι, γενήσομαι, γεγένημαι and γέγονα, ἐγενόμην. All intrans. for am born; become. ἐγενόμην and γέγονα also serve for preterites of the verb "to be." When γέγονα may be construed 'I am,' it means, 'I am by birth,' 'have become.' (B.)—γείνομαι, am born, poet.: aor. ἐγεινάμην, begot, bore (in prose as well as poetry).

- 17. (a) When the my, thy, his, their, &c. are emphatic they are to be translated by possessive pronouns, with the article.
- 18. (b) My, your, his, &c. are to be translated by the article, when it is quite obvious whose the thing in question is.

Whenever there is any opposition (as, when mine is opposed to yours or any other person's) the pronouns must be used.

19. (c) When an adj. without the article stands before the article of the substantive, the thing spoken of is not distinguished from any thing else, but from itself under other circumstances.

(d) When a noun which has just preceded, is to be repeated again, the article belonging to it stands alone.

19*. (a) ὁ σὸς δοῦλος, thy or your slave (emphatic and precise); but σὸς δοῦλος, a slave of yours (indefinite).

(b) ἀλγῶ τὴν κεφαλήν (I am pained as to the head=) I have a pain in my head.

(c) ηδετο ἐπὶ πλουσίοις τοῖς πολίταις, he rejoiced (or was glad), when the citizens were wealthy, (or, on account of the citizens who were wealthy).

(d) ὁ ἐμὸς πατὴρ καὶ ὁ τοῦ φίλου, my father and my friend's, (literally, my father and the of my friend).

20. VOCABULARY 3.

Slave, $\delta \tilde{ov} \lambda o \varsigma$, δv , $\delta o \tilde{v} \lambda o \varsigma$, δv , $\delta o \tilde{v} \lambda o \varsigma$, $\delta o \tilde{v} \lambda o \tilde{v} \lambda o \varsigma$, $\delta o \tilde{v} \lambda o \tilde{v}$

Thus in the example following it is not, 'rich citizens,' as op posed to other citizens; but 'he rejoiced in their being rich; or in the wealth of . . .' &c.

OBS. 1. ħδεσθαι and ἄχθεσθαι are more commonly followed by the dat P (without a prepos.) except in the construction explained in 19. c. OBS. 2. 'That,' when it stands for a subst. before expressed, is to be translated by the article. (See 19*. d.)

Exercise 3.

21. The mother of the beautiful daughter has a pain in her jaws. I am glad that my brothers are happy.

Adjectives in ιv_{ς} denote what belongs to, concerns, or comes from what the root expresses. They are formed from substantives, and sometimes from other adjectives in o_{ς} . When the root ends in τ it is sometimes changed into σ : $\pi \lambda o \hat{v} r o_{\varsigma}$, wealth, $\pi \lambda v \hat{v} \sigma \iota o_{\varsigma}$.

Πατήο, μήτηο, θυγάτηο, γαστήο, throw away ε in G. and D. sing. and D. pl. They have V. ερ, and insert á before σι in D. pl.

P $A\chi\theta_{0\mu\alpha\iota}$, and in the poets $h\delta_{0\mu\alpha\iota}$, are also followed by the acc., especially of neut. pronouns.

The father rejoiced in his son's being wise (c). My friend and my brother's (d). I often have a pain in my foot. My mother was suffering from a pain in her hands (b). I am vexed that the bad are wealthy (c). The daughter loves her mother. My slave loves my brother's. I admire your virtue and that of your friend. The beautiful damsel shall be turned into a horse. I am pleased with those who transact the affairs of the state. He was vexed that the citizens were rich. I take pleasure in my daughter's being beautiful (c).

22. a) The Greeks often place the genitives between the noun governing and the article; or they repeat the article after the noun.

b) A noun or participle is often understood, so that the article stands alone.

23. a) ή τοῦ ποιητοῦ σοφία, σος ἡ σοφία ἡ τοῦ ποιητοῦ, the wisdom (cleverness &c.) of the poet. ἡ καλὴ κεφαλή, οτ ἡ κεφαλὴ ἡ καλη τῆς κόρης, the beautiful head of the maiden.

b) 'Αλέξανδρος ὁ Φιλίππου, Alexander the son of Philip (υἰός, son, understood). ὁ Σωφρονίσκου, the son of Sophroniscus. εἰς τὴν Φιλίππου, into Philip's country (χώραν, country understood). τὰ τῆς πόλεως, the affairs of the state (πράγματα understood). τὰ ἐμά, my affairs, my property. οἱ ἐν ἄστει, the people in the city, those in the city. οἱ σὺν τῷ βασιλεῖ, those with the king.

<sup>Substantives in ia are derived from adj., and express the abstract notion of the adj.—The other positions of the gen. are frequently met with: Μηδείης την άρπαγήν. (Herod. i. 3.) ή ἀναχώρησις τῶν ᾿Αθηνάίων. (Thuc. i. 12.) For a partitive gen. these are the only correct positions.
The latter position gives emphasis to the adjective or dependent genitive.</sup>

Obs. We learn from (34*.b), that the first person plur. of the pres. subj. is used in exhortations; and from (34*.c), that $\mu \hat{n}$ is used with it for 'not.' (See 107*. 1.)

33. d) The infinitive with the article becomes a substantive declinable throughout, and answering to the English 'participial substantive' in —ing.

34. e) Abstract nouns, and the names of materials, generally take the article. When a whole class, or any individual of that class, is meant, the noun, whether singular or plural, takes the article.

34*. a) ὁ ὁινόκερως την δοράν ἰσχυροτάτην έχει, the rhinoceros has a very strong hide.

b) φεύγωμεν τὰ αἰσχρά · διώχωμεν τὰ καλά, let us fly

The article must not be used, unless it is assumed that the thing in question has the property, the object being only to describe of what kind it is. If the writer wished to inform us that the rhinoceros had a hide, which was moreover a strong one, he would not use the article. Thus of the crocodile: ἔχει δὲ καὶ δνυχας καρτερούς, it also has strong claws.

66. These things were not in my power. These things took place in our fathers' times. This (plur.) is good. It is now time to go away. They are ready to do this. The judge is worthy of death (gen.) The boys have disappeared; the father has disappeared. Many nations will go on the expedition. It is easy to the wise, to bear what comes from the gods.25 It is necessary to bear what comes from the gods. Let us go away at once. Socrates, the son of Sophroniscus, was really wise. For it is not lawful to speak ill of the gods. It is hard to deceive the wise.

§ 12. On the Moods.

67. a. 1) The moods of the acrist do not refer to past time, and are therefore rendered by the present in English.

2) The moods of the agrist express momentary actions; those of the present, continued ones.

3) But the participle of the aorist does refer to past time. neown, having fallen.

68. a) $\mu \dot{\eta}$ when it forbids, takes the imperative of the present, the subjunctive of the aorist."

[In doing the exercises, consider (1) whether a single definite action is spoken of; or a continued action, or habit. Having thus determined whether the acrist should be used, or the present, (2) if you use the present, you must also use the imperative; if the acrist, the subjunctive.]

Of course the subj. of the present must be used for the first person (when the present is to be used), as the imperat. has no first person.

69. The optative is the regular attendant of the historical tenses. Hence,

70. b) The relatives and particles (except the compounds of \tilde{a}_{r} ; see 77, 89), which take the subjunctive, after the present and future, take the optative after the historicalⁿ tenses.

The optative is thus, in fact, the subjunctive of the historical tenses, answering to the imperfect and pluperfect of the Latin subjunctive.

71. c) So the particles and pronouns. which go with the indicative in direct, take the optative in oblique narration.

1 Momentary is here used in a somewhat loose way, to express single definite actions, not contemplated as continuing.

• i. e. Imperf., aorists, and pluperf.

§ 13. The Moods continued.

On ei and av. Conditional Propositions.

Introductory remarks on av.

75. This particle (of which Hermann considers the real meaning to be by chance, perhaps; but Hartung, else, otherwise) gives an expression of contingency and mere possibility to the assertion.

76. Its principal use is in the conclusion of a hypothetical sentence; and when it stands in other sentences, it often refers to an implied condition.

77. It coalesces with several particles, so as to form one word with them.

Thus with εί, ὅτε, ἐπειδή it forms ἐάν, ἥν, ἄν, ὅταν, ἐπειδάν.

78. The $\tilde{\alpha}_r = i \hat{\alpha}_r$, $i \hat{\alpha}_r$, regularly begins the sentence, and is thus distinguished from the simple $\tilde{\alpha}_r$, which must have some words before it.

79. ϵi (like our 'if') has the two meanings of if* and whether: it goes with the indic. or optative; but not, in good writers, with the subjunctive.—(See example in 72. c.)

80. a) Possibility without any expression of uncertainty; si with indic. in both clauses.

[•] See 334.

b) Uncertainty with the prospect of decision; čár with subjunctive in the conditional, and the indic. (generally the future) in the consequent clause.

: c) Uncertainty without any such accessary notion: ei with the optative in the conditional clause, and an with the optative in the consequent clause.

Impossibility, or belief that the thing is not so: ei with imperfect or aorist indic. in the conditional clause; ar with imperf. or aorist indic. in the consequent clause.

1) The imperfect is used for present time, or when the time is quite indefinite.

2) If both condition and consequence refer to past time, the aorist must be used, at least in the consequent clause; unless the consequence is to be represented as continuing.

3) The condition may refer to past, and the consequence to present time.

εὶ ἐπείσθην, οὐκ ἄν ἡρρώστουν, if I had (then) been persuaded, I should not (now) be out of health.

If I had a mina, I would give it to the slave. If he had had even three talents, he would have given them to his brother. If any one were to do (c) this, he would do the greatest²⁸ injury to the state. If you speak the truth (i. e. if what you say should prove true), I will give you three talents. If the wise were to manage the affairs of the state, they would confer a great benefit28 upon all the citizens. If this be so,27 I will go away at once. If you were really wise, you would admire the beauty of virtue. I am here to see not only the city, but also the whole 20 country. If the citizens were wise, they would have killed not only Xenoclides, but also Philip. If you should be found guilty²⁷ of murder, the citizens will put you to death.

84. a) The optative with $\tilde{a}r$ is equivalent to our may, might, would, should, &c.

Fuch a verb as 'I do not say' is understood: I saw, not that my son, but also &c.=I saw (I do not say) that (I saw) my son, but also, &c.

It properly refers (as our would, &c.) to a condition supposed. Thus in (86*. a), 'I would gladly see it,' if it were possible; in (86*. b) 'one could not,' &c. if one were to look.

85. b) The optative with $\tilde{\alpha}_{r}$ is often translated by the future.

The Attics were peculiarly fond of expressing themselves in a doubtful way; of avoiding all positiveness in their assertions; and hence the optative with $\tilde{a}\nu$ is used of the most positive assertions.

86. c. d. e.) ar gives to the infinitive and the participle the same force that it gives to the optative.

Thus (as in 86*. d) the infin. gets the force of an infin. future. This is the common way of expressing the future after verbs of hoping thinking, trusting, praying, knowing, confessing, &c., when it is dependent on a condition expressed or implied.

Of a positive unconditional expectation, &c. the infinitive without a is to be used; the future, if future time is to be strongly marked; if not, the aor. or present, according as the action is momentary or continued. (K.)

86*. a) ἡδέως ἃν θεασαίμην ταῦτα, I would gladly see this, or, I should like to see this. ἄν- θρωπον ἀναιδέστερον οὐκ ἄν τις εὕροι, a man, or, one could not find a more shameless fellow.

b Properly adj.

From a, not, πόρος, passage, outlet.

^{7 2.} sing. of βούλομαι, which with δπτομαι and οἴομαι always make ει in 2. sing. pres. (δψει, οἴει).

^{*} ἐθέλω (the most general expression for wishing) denotes particularly that kind of wish in which there lies a purpose or design: consequently the desire of something, the execution of which is, or appears to be, in one's own power. βούλομαι, on the other hand, is confined to that kind of willingness or wishing, in which the wish and inclination towards a thing are either the only thing contained in the expression, or are at least intended to be marked particularly. Hence it expresses a readiness and willingness to submit to what does not exactly depend upon oneself.—(Butt. Lexilogus, Eng. Trans. 194.)

d The dρξάμενος must be in the case of whatever it refers to.

Exercise 18.

After what tenses must the opt. be used in dependent sentences?

101. What shall I say? Do you wish, then, (that) we should go away? What shall we do? Do you wish, then, that we should tell you the cause? Do you wish that I should hold-my-tongue-about this? Do you wish, then, that I should begin? All men, and you as much as any body, praise this man. This eagle has a 12 black head. They praise not only 28 the mother, but also the daughter. Not only you, but also your friends, will prosper, if you do this. We must bear what fortune sends (what comes from fortune 25). You yourself shall hear. I am at a loss what (72, note p) to do. They are at a loss which way to turn themselves. They did not know which way to turn themselves.

102. a) εἴ τι ἔχοι (οτ ἔχει), ἔφη δώσειν. c) εἴ τι ἔχοι, ἔφη δοῦναι ἄν. c) εἴ τι εἶχεν, ἔφη δοῦναι ἄν. amples in 81.

103. a) When conditional propositions become dependent on another verb, the consequent clause is in the infinitive.

b) Instead, therefore, of the optative with $\tilde{a}r$ (in 81. c) we shall have the infin. with $\tilde{a}r$.

c) Instead of the imperfect or a orist with $\tilde{a}r$ (81. d) we shall have the present or a orist infin. with $\tilde{a}r$.

104. a) Instead of the indic. future (81. b) we shall have the infin. future; and it with optative instead of iar with subj., if in connection with past time.

[•] Also εἴ τι ἔχει (or ἔχοι), ἔφη δώσειν ἄν. See 86. note w.

105. Thus where we should have had in the consequent clause, ποιήσω, { ποιοῖμὶ ἄν, { ποιήσαιμὶ ἄν, } πεποιήκοιμὶ ἄν, ἐποίουν ἄν, ἐποίησα ἄν, ἐπεποιήκειν ᾶν, we shall have, ποιήσειν, ποιεῖν ᾶν, ποιῆσαι ἄν, πεποιηκέναι ᾶν.

Exercise 19.

do him the greatest service. I said that, if any one should do this, he would greatly injure me. He said that, if he had a mina, he would give it to the slave. He said that, if any one were to do this, he would do the greatest injury to the state. He said that he was there to see the battle. How much do you think that your horses would fetch, if they were sold (86*. c)? Who would not wonder at the shamelessness of this basest flatterer? He told me, that his daughter had very beautiful hands. I should extremely like to see the wise men of old. If the Persians of the present day were wise, they would be doing better. I should wish to be contented with what comes from the gods.

§ 19. ον and μή.

107. 1) of denies independently and directly.

- 2) μή does not deny independently and directly, but in reference to something else; to some supposed case, condition or purpose; or in the expression of some fear, solicitude, or care.
- 107* 1) μή is used in all prohibitions (see 32. Obs.)
 2) With all conditional particles, εἰ, ἐάν (ἥν, ἄν), οταν, ἐπειδάν, &c., and with οτε, ὁπότε, 'when,' if a condition is implied (111. d).

3) With all particles expressing intention or purpose; i.a., onos, os, &c.

Note.—In the same cases the compounds of $\mu\eta$ will be used when required.

108. But où is used with ὅτι, ὡς (that): and also with ἐπεί, ἐπειδή (when, after, and as causal conjunctions, as, since), because they relate to actual facts.

109. a. b.) or is also (generally) used when the opinions, &c. of another person are stated in oblique narration.

For though these seem to be dependent, they are only distinguished from direct assertion in form.

110. c) In negative propositions, positive pronouns and adverbs should be translated into Greek by the corresponding negative forms.

Hence the particles for neither—nor are to be used for either—or after a negative; and no, nobody, nowhere, for any, anybody, anywhere, &c. (See note † "Questions on the Syntax, § 19.)

- 111. a) οὐκ ἐθέλειν φησίν, he says that he does not choose.
 - b) νομίζει οὐ καλὸν είναι, he thinks that it is not honorable.
 - c) οὐ δύναται ο ὖ τ εὖ λέγειν, ο ὖ τ εὖ ποιεῖν τοὺς φίλους, he cannot either speak well of his friends, or treat them well.
 - d) οὖx ἔξῆν εἰσελθεῖν παρὰ τὸν στρατηγόν, ὁπότε μὴ σχολάζοι, persons were not allowed to go in to the general, when he was not at leisure. (Here a condition is implied: if he was not at leisure at leisure at that time.)

Exercise 20.

When should μη κλέπτε be used? when μη κλέψης? 72.

113. I will go away (65, note g), that I may not see the battle. Let us no longer pursue what is disgraceful.¹³ He told me, that the road did not lead to Athens (108). Do not think, that the citizens serve you. If you do not do what you ought (91. c), you will not prosper. No longer accustom yourself to deceive your father. I will not take it, unless you bid (me). Let no one steal this. Let not a single person go away. He says that the boys do not wish to go away. Let us not fly-from the company of the good. He said that, unless the citizens performed him this service²², he would lay waste the rest¹³ of the country. I shall be slow to do that.²⁵

⁵ Eri is yet, still; with negatives, any longer.

$ 20. Verbals in zéos.

114. These verbals are formed both from trans. and intrans. verbs: and also from mid. (deponent) verbs, since they are sometimes used in a passive meaning.

115. a) They are passive, and take the agent in the dative; but they also govern the object in the same case as the verbs from which they come.

116. a) When used in the neuter (with the agent in the dat. omitted), they are equivalent to the participle in dus used in the same way, and express: 'one must, ought,' &c.; 'we, you, &c. must, ought,' &c.; or, 'is to be,' &c.

117. b) When formed from transitive verbs, they may also be used in agreement with the object, the agent being still in the dative. Here, too, they exactly agree with the participle in dus.

118. Two peculiarities in Attic Greek deserve notice:

1. The neut. plur. is used as well as the neut. sing.

2. The agent is sometimes put in the accus.

as well as the object.

119. c) When a verb has two constructions with different meanings, the verbal adjective sometimes has both: thus πειστέον with accus. has the meaning of persuade (πείθειν τινά); with the dat. that of to obey (πείθεσθαί ι τινι).

120. a) G. ἐπιθυμητέον ἐστὶ τῆς ἀρετῆς, we, you,

&c. should desire virtue.

D. ἐπιχειρητέον ἐστὶ τῷ ἔργφ, we, you, &c. should set about the work.

Α. κολαστέον έστὶ τὸν παῖδα, we, you, &c.

should punish the boy.

b) ἀσκητέον ἐστί σοι τὴν ἀ ρετήν, cultivate virἀσκητέα ἐστί σοι ἡ ἀ ρετή, tue.

i Perf. 2. (or mid.) πέποιθα, I trust, or feel sure: I am persuaded.

- c) πειστέον έστὶν αὐτόν, we must persuade him. πειστέον έστὶν αὐτῷ, we must obey him.
- N. B. These examples may all be translated passively. Virtue should be cultivated, &c.

121. VOCABULARY 19.

To practise, exercise, cultivate.

βοηθέωι (dat.)

Oss. These verbals should be formed from aor. 1 pass. m by rejecting the augment, turning $\theta_{\eta\nu}$ into $\tau^{\ell\sigma\varsigma}$, and therefore the preceding aspirate (if there is one) into its mute (i. e. $\pi\tau$, $\kappa\tau$, for $\phi\theta$, $\chi\theta$).

Form verbals from $\delta\iota\dot{\omega}\kappa\omega$ pursue, $\phi\varepsilon\dot{\nu}\gamma\omega$ fly from, $\dot{\omega}\phi\varepsilon\lambda\dot{\epsilon}\omega$ benefit.

Exercise 21.

122. The great work must be set about. We must not shun the labour. All the citizens should confer benefits on the state. He said that all the citizens ought to confer benefits on their country (state), when there is any occasion. We must fly-to-the-assistance of

He told us, that if this were so, 27 we ought to set about the task. We must punish not only 28 my boy, but also my brother's. Parents 15 and poets 1 love their own productions. He said that virtue should be cultivated by all. Whoever (50715 ar, 94.2) is 32 caught, shall be punished. We must not be slow 25 to obey our parents.

§ 21. Double Accusative.

- 123. Verbs of taking away from, teaching, concealing, asking, putting on or off, take two accusatives.
 - 124. a) Θηβαίους χρήματα η ητησαν, they asked the Thebans for money.

b) ού σε ἀποκρύψω ταῦτα, I will not hide this from you.

c) τοὺς πολεμίους τὴν ναῦν ἀπεστερήκαμεν, we have deprived the enemy of their ship.

d) διδάσκουσι τους παϊδας σωφροσύνην, they teach the boys modesty (moderation or self-restraint.)

e) τὸν παῖδα ἐξέδυσε τὸν χιτῶνα, he stript the boy of his tunic.

126. I will put on my tunic. Do not hide your misfortunes from me. We will teach our daughters modesty. O mother, do not teach your daughter impudence. We will take away this from the woman. Let us not teach these most disgraceful things to our boys. The rest of the Thebans were there to see the battle. He would have died³⁷ but for the dog. Let us not fly from the all but present war. I will put his tunic on the boy. If the enemy do this,³⁶ we will deprive them of their ship. I should have died³⁷ but for my faithful slave. This man has stript me of my tunic. If you do not perform me this service,²² I will deprive you of your pay. If we find him at home, we will kill him. He killed all who were within. Let us love the company of the temperate. Let us not fear external evils.

§ 22. The Accusative after Passive and Neuter Verbs.

127. The accus. of the active becomes the nom. of the pass.

128. a) If the verb governs two accusatives, that of the person becomes the nominative; that of the thing continues to be the object of the passive verb, as in Latin. But also,

129. b) The dat. of the active sometimes becomes the nom. of the passive; the object of the active continuing to be the object of the passive in the accusative (ἐπιτρέπειν, πιστεύειν τινί τι).

130. d) Intransitive verbs take an acc. of a noun of kindred meaning; and (as in $\delta \epsilon \tilde{i} r \gamma \tilde{a} \lambda a$) of one that restricts the general notion of the verb to a particular instance.

- e) Here the ordinary accus. of the object is found together with this limiting accusative.
- 131. a) ἀφαιρεθεὶς την ἀρχήν, having had his government taken from him.
 - b) ὁ Σωχράτης ἐπιτρέπεται τὴν δίαιταν, Socrates is entrusted with the arbitration; πεπίστευμαι τοῦτο, this is entrusted to me, or I am entrusted with this.

c) ἐκκοπεὶς τοὺς ὀφθαλμούς, having had his eyes knocked out.

d) ὁεῖν γάλα, to flow with milk; ζην βίον, to live a life; κινδυνεύειν κίνδυνον, to brave a danger; πόλεμον πολεμεῖν, to wage a war; ὑπνον κοιμᾶσθαι, to sleep a sleep.

If the citizens are wise, they will put him to death. If the citizens are mad (aor.), they will put you to death. You will not be able (86*. b) to disbelieve your mother. The rivers are flowing with a strong stream. The thing has all but been done. I should have killed you, but for so your father. Sophroniscus had his government taken away from him. He has had his government taken away from him. Hares have large eyes.12 Let us try to bear what comes from the gods.25 We must try 88 to bear what fortune sends.25 He conquered the Persians in the battle that took place there (in the there battle). I will not expose myself to this danger. The people outside were cut to pieces. I asked the boy himself, whether (72. c) the river was flowing with a strong stream. I asked Sophroniscus what magistracy he held.

134. a) The accus. is used after nouns and adjectives where xará, as to, might be supposed understood.

It thus limits the preceding word to a particular part, circumstance, &c.

135. b) The accus. of a neut. pronoun or any general expression, is often used in this way after verbs that would govern a substantive in another case.

136. c) The accusative is used to express duration of time, and the distance of one place from another.

137. a) καλὸς τὸ σῶμα, beautiful in person. Σωκράτης τοῦνομα, δος Socrates by name. πλήττομαι τὴν κεφαλήν, I am struck on the head. πάντα εὐδαιμονεῖ, he is happy in all respects.

d =то буора.

Oss. The fundamental notion of the genitive is separation from, proceeding from; i. e. the notion of the prepositions from, out of (B.)

140. a) Partitives, numerals, superlatives, &c. govern the genitive.

141. b) The genitive is used with adverbs of time and place.

- 142. d) The genitive also expresses the material out of which any thing is made; and generally such properties, circumstances, &c. as we should express by 'of.'
 - OBS. 1. b) Our indef. art. must be translated by the Greek (def.) art. in expressions like 'once a day,' &c., where 'a' is equivalent to 'each.'
 - OBS. 2. e) The gen. stands after possessive pronouns in a kind of apposition to the personal pronoun implied. It may often be translated as an exclamation. The gen. is also used alone, or after interjections, as an exclamation.
 - 143. a) οἱ φρόνιμοι τῶν ἀνθρώπων, sensible persons. οὐδεὶς Ἑλλήνων, none of the Greeks. ἡ μεγίστη τῶν νόσων, the greatest of diseases.

b) τρὶς τῆς ἡμέρας, three times a day. ποῦ γῆς, in what part of the world? πόξὸς τῆς ἡλι-146*. b) Words relating to plenty, want, value, &c., govern the genitive.

147. c) Verbs relating to the senses, except sight, govern the genitive.

Obs. drover, hear, generally takes a gen. of the sound, and an acc. of the person producing it: but in neither case without exception.

148. e. f) The genitive is often used where we may supply 'in respect to' in English.

In this way, the gen. restricts a general expression to a particular meaning; to some particular circumstance, object, &c.

The genitive so used may often be supposed governed by Evera, on account of. It is very frequently used in this way after words compounded with a privative.

He scolds, not only the others, but also the judge himself. I should have scolded the boy, if he had done this. Why are you in a passion with your slave? I have not met you (these) two days. I am angry with those who transact the affairs of the state. O Hercules! what in the world am I to do (99. c)? Through fear he did not hit the mark.

Exercise 35.

185. Do you wish, then (99. a), that I should strike him with this stick? He told me that his father was suffering from a severe disease. Thales was contemporary with Solon. I admire the wisdom of Thales. Hercules lived about the same time as Theseus. If any one was brave, it was Hercules. O father, do not scold your son. If you had kept company with the bad, you would have become bad your yourself. I asked the boy whether we ought to envy so our neighbours. The damsel has very beautiful eyes.12 Let us aim at speaking14 well of all the good. Let us abstain from acting insolently. All, and you among the first, 4 admire these things. Let us be contented with our present condition. He said that, if Xenoclides had been wise, he would not have plotted against the general. He told me that he wished to give his slaves a taste of liberty (149. c). Let us keep company with sensible persons. Let us obey the laws of the state. I should like to hear 20 the boy sing (part.) & 32. Middle Voice.

The middle voice denotes:

1) That the agent does the action upon himself; or

2) That the agent does the action for his own advantage; or

3) That the agent gets the action done for his own advantage.

The strict reflexive meaning is found but in very few verbs; principally those that describe some simple action done to our own persons; as as to clothe, crown, &c. The reflexive sense is often equivalent to a new simple meaning; which may be either transitive or intransitive.

He took hold of his hair (plur.) Let us consult about the state. To deliberate quickly is a different thing (differs) from deliberating 4 wisely. Let us consult together what we ought to do.  They consulted together what they should do with (137. b) the unjust judge. I exercised-myself-in (190. 4) that art. Go to sleep. Having said this, he took himself off. The boy, having shown (188.3) much virtue and temperance, died. O boys, receive this. I have received this. The city will receive many times as much (174. f) as this (plur.) O slaves, receive some 48 of the wine. The physician being informed of what had happened, came in great haste. I crossed over the river in great haste. If you do this, you will be greatly benefited.

I will guard against this danger. Having a pain in both my ears, I lay down. This will be confessed by all. This will be confessed, willingly at least, 45 by none. The army shall be maintained from the king's country. I am glad that 5 the children are well brought up. The city shall be well guarded by the citizens. I feared the very men (those themselves) who 1 guarded the city.

§ 34. On the Perfect 2.

192. The Perf. 2. (improperly called the Perf. mid.) prefers the intransitive signification, but never has the pure reflexive meaning of the middle.

1) If the verb has both the trans. and intrans. meaning, the perf. 1. has the former; the perf. 2. the latter. 2) If the intrans. meaning has gone over to the mid., or to the pass. (as often happens), the perf. 2. belongs in meaning to that voice. 3) If the verb is in trans, the perf. 2. has the same relation to it that any other perf. has to its verb.

The boy's head is broken. I have watched over your safety for many years. Having lost all his property, he took himself off. The gates are open. The servants opened the gates early, as their custom was. Brave men have confidence in them-Then only (91. c), when they obey the laws, will the citizens be prosperous. If we do not bear what comes from the gods,25 we are undone. Who in the worlds has broken this pitcher? It is the parts of a general to watch over the safety of his army. O Jupiter, the folly of the man!50 If a war should arise (be raised), we are undone. § 35. Additional Remarks on some of the Moods and Tenses.

195. a) The fut. 3. (or future perfect) expresses a future action continuing in its effects.

196. The fut. 3. differs, therefore, from the Latin futurum exactum, in not being used to express merely the future completion of a momentary action.

197. b) The fut. 3. is, however, sometimes used to express 1) the speedy completion of an action, or 2) the certainty of its completion in the most positive manner.

198. The fut. 3. is obviously the natural future of those perfects, that, from their marking a continued state, are equivalent to a present with a new meaning: e. g. μέμνημαι, κέκτημαι.

199. Some verbs have the fut. 3. as a simple future:

e. g. δεδήσομαι, πεπαύσομαι, κεκόψομαι.

200. c) In the active voice a continued future state, or a future action continuing in its effects, is expressed by ἐσομαι with perf. participle; a circumlocution which is also used in the passive (as in the example 205. c.)

201. d. e) The perf. has also a subjunctive and optative, and the future an optative, which are used whenever that kind of uncertainty or contingency peculiar to those moods agrees with the time of these tenses.

Only, however, when particular distinctness is required; and even then, the perf. part. with $\epsilon i \eta \nu$ or $\tilde{\omega}$ is generally preferred to the regular opt. and subj. of that tense.

202. The imperat. perfect is principally used in those verbs whose perfects have the meaning of a present: μέμνησο, &c.

203. f) The third person of the imperat. perf. pass. marks a decided resolution: it is a strong expression for let it be done, &c.

204. Obs. elde with the optative—and also the opta-

§ 36. On the Infinitive.

208. The use of the Greek infinitive is much nearer to that of the English than that of the Latin is; thus:—

209. b. c) It expresses the purpose, and (b. d) is often used in the active, after both verbs and adjectives, where the passive would be admissible, but less common.

Hence it must often be translated into Latin by the participle in dus, or by the supine in u.

210. The particle 6078^4 expresses a consequence, and is used with the infinitive; or, if the consequence be a definite consequence that has actually occurred, the indicative.

211.
$$So-as to = \omega \sigma \tau s$$ with infinitive always. $So-that = \omega \sigma \tau s$ with infinitive or indicative.

With the infinitive the consequence is more closely connected with the principal clause, as contemplated or resulting immediately and naturally from what is there stated. The consequence may be equally real.

- 212. 'So that' should not be translated by the indicative, except where the sense would allow us to substitute therefore or consequently (itaque) for so that. Thus: "the road was so bad that I did not reach my inn till midnight" = "the road was very bad; consequently I did not reach my inn till midnight:" here the indicative would be properly used. Sore properly answers to overse, or some other demonstrative, in the preceding clause.
 - 214. a) ὁ ἄνθρωπος πέφυκε φιλεῖν, it is the nature of man to love.

d More rarely ως.

b) παρέχω έμαυτον έρωτ αν, I offer myself to be questioned.

c) $\eta \lambda \bar{\theta}$ or $i\delta \epsilon \tilde{\iota} r$ os, I came (or am come) to see you.

d) ήδυς ακούειν, sweet to hear. δεινός λέγειν, clever at speaking. χαλεπός λαβεῖν, hard to take (or catch).

e) οὖτως ἀνόητός ἐστιν, ωστε πόλεμον ἀντ εἰρήνης αίρεῖοθαι, he is so senseless as to choose war in preference to peace.

ούτως ανόητός έστιν, ωστε πόλεμον αντ είρήνης αίρεῖται, he is so senseless, that he (actually) chooses war in preference to peace.

f) φιλοτιμότατος ήν, ωστε πάντα ύπομεῖναι τοῦ ἐπαινεῖσθαι ἕνεκα, he was very ambitious, so as to bear any thing for the sake of being praised.

Exercise 40.

215. It is the nature of man (213. a) to love those who confer benefits upon him. The city is a difficult one to take. The woman is a terrible one to find out contrivances. The man is unable to hold his tongue. He told me that his daughter had been well brought up. If you give me any trouble, I will not endure it, at least (not) willingly.45 The eagle has long wings.42 He had been so brought up as very easily to have enough. is so beautiful as to be admired by all. You are so senseless, that you are always hoping for what is impossible.18 They are too wise60 to choose war in preference to peace. The young birds have already got The trees are already putting forth their feathers. The child has not yet got (any) teeth. If you molest me, you shall not come off with impunity.53 They harassed them so, that the army was not able (indic.)

This word is often strengthened by the addition of τί (πάνυ τι).

h πώ, πώποτε, ever yet, ever up to this time. The former is joined to οὐ, μή; the latter to οὐδέ, μηδέ; and both relate to the past. Οὐδέποτε, μηδέποτε, are commonly employed only generally, or with reference to the future. (See 238*, note on examp. b.)

This verb has a double augment: imperf. ηνειχόμην, aor. ηνεσχόμην.

Aor. 1. as perf. has a different meaning to advance. This wine is pleasant to drink. It is the nature of boys to pursue what is pleasant.

§ 37. The Infinitive continued.

216. a) The infinitive with the article in the gen. sometimes denotes a motive or purpose.

It may be considered as governed by Evera understood.

. 217. b) When the infinitive has a subject of its own, the general rule is, that it stands in the accusative.

This rule holds good, when the infin is used with $\tau \delta$, (as in 221. c).

218. b) A preposition with the infin. may be equivalent to a sentence introduced by a conjunction.

219. d) But when the subject of the infinitive belongs to and is expressed with the former verb, it is generally not expressed with the infinitive.

The examples in 221, show that this rule holds good, whether the subject of the infin. be the subject of the preceding verb or an oblique case governed by it.—In the second example the accusative would be expressed even in Latin: dixit se festinare.

220. e) When the subject of the infinitive is omitted because expressed with the other verb, an adjective or substantive that forms the predicate with the infin. is mostly put in the same case that the subject of the infinitive stands in in the other clause.

Thus (in 221. e) vios conforms to 'Αλέξανδρος' θεός to ἐγώ προθύμου to αὐτοῦ, &c.—This construction is called Attraction.

221. a) ἐτειχίσθη δὲ καὶ ᾿Αταλάντη, τοῦ μὴ ληστὰς κακουργεῖν τὴν Εὕβοιαν, and Atalanta also

Exercise 41.

223. The city was fortified, that no one might do injury to the citizens. Nothing was done, because (221. b) that villain gave us trouble. Let us be seech our friends to be zealous. He said that he would be with us, if it was agreeable to us.66 I persuaded them that I was a philosopher (221. e). I persuaded the judges that Abrocomas was a rascal. It is a hard thing (65) to conquer one's temper. He is too young to have mastered his temper. If you ward off from me this danger, I shall feel thankful to you for your zeal. I will revenge myself on him who has injured you. If you return like for like to him who has treated you ill, you commit a sin. You used to say (221, e) that you were master. We ought to defend the laws of the state. It is in our power²⁶ to become happy. You may (if you please) become a philosopher. He says that he will deliberate. Nothing was done, because (prep.) all the citizens envy the judge. He says that he will brave this danger. It is not right, that a citizen should plot against the constitution. If all the citizens defend the laws, it will be well.

m μηδείς, as a purpose is expressed.

224. Vocabulary 37.

PREPOSITION &x.

Before a vowel ix becomes it it governs the gen. and means in general, out of, forth from. Hence, of cause = in consequence of; from, for: also, of succession of time.

Out of the city,

ἐκ ταύτης τῆς αἰτίας.
ἐκ τούτου.
ἐκ τῶν πρόσθεν δακρύων.
ἐξ ἀπροσδοκήτου (ἀπροσδόκητος, unexpected).

Exercise 42.

225. We are now laughing after our former tears. The men from (out of) the city are plotting against the king. He says that he is watching over the safety of all. The Grecian cavalry, unexpectedly charging the ranks of the Persians, conquer (them). It is sweet to laugh after troubles. The physician says that diseases are from Jupiter. This being the case, it seemed good to the generals to depart. The slave says that the pitcher is broken. He says that he is glad the citizens are rich. He says that he takes pleasure in sleeping. He said that the judge had an upper chamber, whenever he stayed in town. This being so, let every man provide for his own safety. I asked him how much he thought the geometer's possessions would fetch, 37 if sold. I wonder at what has been done by the general. It is not every man,56 that can bear unexpected (evils). This man has inflicted more damage upon the city than any other single person. 64 Would that the physician had remained with (us)! Would that the physician were here! Would that the physician had been here!

226. Attraction may take place (that is, the predicate substantive or adjective be in the nominative), when the infinitive is introduced by the article or $\delta \sigma \tau \epsilon$.

227. a) πρὸς τὸ συμφέρον ζῶσι, διἇ τὸ φίλαυτοι εἶναι, they make self-interest the object of their lives, because they are lovers of themselves.

 b) ἐκπέμπονται ἐπὶ τῷⁿ ὅ μοιοι τοῖς λειπομένοις είναι, they are sent out, on the understanding that they are to be equal (on an equal footing with those that are left behind.

c) οὐδεὶς τηλιχοῦτος ἔστω πας ὑμῖν ὥστε, τοὺς νόμους πας αβὰς, μη δοῦναι δίχην, let no one be so powerful amongst you, as not to be punished if he transgresses the laws.

Exercise 43.

229. Let us fly from excessive self-love. Let us pursue the honorable rather than the expedient. They choose war in preference to peace, because they have not tasted the evils of war. They undergo every toil. because they are ambitious. He says that a king is equivalent to very many soldiers. All men, so to say, 16 are lovers of self. If he were not ambitious, he would not endure this. I am come on an understanding, that I am to be on-an-equal-footing with the other citizens. Do not transgress the laws of your country. They bear every thing for the sake of being praised, because (prep.) they are excessively ambitious. Let us choose what is honorable in preference to what is expedient. It is not right, to make self-interest the object of one's life. It does not belong to a pious man, to fear death excessively. It is not every man that can⁵⁶ master self-love. have not fallen in with Abrocomas for a long time. I love both the children of Abrocomas and those of Philip. Every body aims at becoming happy. § 39. The Participle.

230. A participle assumes an assertion; or rather states it attributively, not predicatively. Whenever it is convenient to express this assertion by a complete sentence, we may do so; connecting it with the principal sentence by a relative pronoun, or a conjunction (or conjunctional adverb) of time, cause, condition, or limitation. Hence, vice versa—

231. a. b. c. d) Relative sentences, and sentences introduced by when, after, if, since, because, although, &c. may be translated into Greek by omitting the relative or conjunction, and turning the verb into a participle.

In translating from Greek into English, the proper particle to be used must be found by considering the relation in which the participle stands to the principal verb.

Thus, "I visited my friend vocova," may mean, 'who was ill,' or 'because he was ill,' or 'when he was ill.'

- 232. e) The English verbal or participial substantive under the government of a preposition, may often be translated by a participle agreeing with the nominative case of the sentence.
- 233. g) A past participle may often be translated into English by a verb, connected with the principal verb by 'and.'

Of course, vice versa, the first of two verbs connected by 'and' may be translated into Greek by a past participle.

234. a) γυνή τις χήρα δονιν είχε καθ' έκαστην ήμέραν ωδν αὐτῆ τίκτον σαν, a certain widow woman had a hen which laid her an egg every day.

b) τὰ χρήματα ἀναλώσας ἀπήγξατο, when or after, he had spent all his money, he hanged himself.

c) χαλεπόν έστι λέγειν ποὸς την γαστέρα, ώτα οὐκ έχουσαν, it is difficult to speak to the stomach, because it has no ears.

d) γιγνώσκοντες ὅτι κακά ἐστιν, ὅμως ἐπιθυμοῦσον αὐτῶν, though they know that they are hurtful, they nevertheless desire them.

e) ληϊζόμενοι ζῶσιν, they live by plundering.

f) κρατῶν δὲ ἡδονῶν καὶ ἐπιθυμιῶν, διαφερόντως αν σωφρονοῖ, but if he gained the victory over pleasure and his desires, he would be temperate in an uncommon degree.

g) λαβων, έφη, τοῦτον, μαστίγωσον, take this fellow said he, and flog him. ὁίψας δ' ὁ ποιμὴν πέτραν, τὸ κέρας αὐτῆς κατέαξεν, but the shepherd threw a stone and broke her horn.

Exercise 44.

OBS. Sentences in Italics are to be translated by participles.

236. I shall be happy, if I know myself. The judge himself shall be punished, if he transgress the laws of the state. The master himself took the slave and flogged him. He fled for refuge into the temple, that 70 he might not be punished. Since you see this, are you not without fear of death? If you do what you ought, you will be happy. That shameless (fellow) lives by flattering the rich. What impiety! 50 He set off with ten thousand Hoplites. Cyrus was riding with his head uncovered. Take the boy and punish him. He has spent both his own money and his father's. It is not every man who can56 be without fear of the future. He threw a stone and broke the eagle's head. He crossed the river, though it was flowing with a full stream. The wolf was persuaded, and went away. The physician, with much skill (art.), freed the boy from his disease. At last he went away. At first you spoke ill of every body. After some time I will be with you.

237. a) The participle of the future is used to express a purpose."

So διαλ. πολύν or δλίγον χρ.

t Of course in choosing which may be used, we must consider whether the persons merely had, or led, or brought, or used the thing or person with which he performed the action.

The intention is spoken of in a less certain way by the addition He had Cyrus arrested, ώς αποκτενῶν.

 - 238.* a) έγω έρχομαι ύμῖν έπικου ρήσων, I am coming to aid you.
 - τον άδικοῦντα παρὰ τοὺς δικαστὰς ἄγειν δεὶ δίκην δώσοντα, he who wrongs another should be taken before the judges to be punished (literally, one should take, &c.)

τοὺς τοῦτο ποιήσοντας ἐκπέμπει, he sends out men to do this.

b) ηδειν τοὺς παῖδας θνητοὺς γεννή σας, I knew that I had begotten mortal children (or, I knew that the children I had begotten were mortal).

ἦσθόμην αὐτῶν οἰομένων εἶναι σοφωτάτων, I perceived that they thought themselves extremely wise.

σύνοιδα ἐμαυτῷ σοφὸς ὧν (or σοφῷ ὅντι), I am conscious of being wise (or, that I am wise).

οὐδέποτε τρετεμέλησε μοι σιγήσαντι, I have never repented of having held my tongue.

Exercise 45.

239.* I am ashamed of having flattered Xenoclides. Remember that you are a man. He was conscious of acting unjustly. He rejoices in being praised, because he is ambitious. I have ceased to be a flatterer. I am conscious of fearing death. I am not ashamed of having conferred many benefits upon him. I know that I am mortal. I do not repent of having ravaged the whole country. I am conscious of wishing to destroy whatever I may take (shall have taken.). He is evidently doing disgraceful things. He evidently cannot either speak well of his friends or treat them well. Cyrus knew that the son he had begotten, was mortal

It has also the meaning of sustinere, to bear to do so and so.

μανθάνω, μαθήσομαι, μεμάθηκα. ἔμαθον.

μετα-μέλει, μετα-μελήσει, &C.

b alσχύνομαι πυιείν=I am ashamed to do it: alσχύνομαι ποιών or ποιήσας, I am ashamed of doing, or having done it.

c εαν φαίνωμαι αδικών, if it should appear that I have acted unjustly.

d δηλός έστιν ανιώμενος, he is evidently vexed.

^{• 91,} c.

(238* b). I will put a stop to his inflicting damage on the city. I knew that the children he begot were mortal. Do not cease to love your mother. Know that you shall be punished for your injustice. The physician is here to $(p)^f$ combat the boy's disease. Take the villain before the judges to be punished. They will evidently attempt this. I knew that he had done more service to the state than any other single person. I will send out men to (p) inflict damage on the city.

240. Φθάνω[§] (come or get before) and λανθάνω[§] (am concealed) are generally rendered by adverbs; the participle that accompanies them must then be turned into a verb.

241. The participle λανθάνων or λαθών may be rendered secretly, without being observed, seen, &c. Hence ξλαθεν εἰσελθών is nearly equivalent to εἰσῆλθεν λαθών, but gives more prominence to the notion of secrecy.

242. a) δ $K\tilde{\nu}\varrho o \varsigma$, $\tilde{\alpha} \tau \epsilon^{\dagger} \pi \alpha \tilde{\iota} \varsigma \tilde{\omega} \nu$, $\tilde{\eta} \delta \epsilon \tau o \tau o \tilde{\iota} \varsigma$, $\tau o i o \nu \tau o i \varsigma$, Cyrus, as being a boy, was pleased with such things.

b) ἔτυχον παρόντες, they happened to be present. τυγχάνει ών, he happens to be (or simply, is.)

c) λανθάνω τι ποιῶν, 1) am concealed from myself doing it = do it without knowing it; unconsciously, unknown to myself.

f A (p) after the first word of a clause shows that it is to be turned into a participial clause, as explained in the two preceding sections.

⁵ φθάνω, φθήσομαι, ἔφθᾶκα. ἔφθᾶσα, ἔφθην. Fut. φθάσω in later writers. (ἔφθην—φθαίην, φθῶ, φθῆναι, φθάς). ἔφθην is the older agrist: but ἔφθασα is used once even by Thuc., and from Xenophon downwards is the more common form. (B.)

h λανθάνω, λήσω, λέληθα. έλαθον. (See 156.)
i Often ατε δη. (See 371.)

- 2) am concealed from others doing it = do it without being observed; secretly; without being seen or discovered.
- d) ἔφθην αὐτοὺς ἀφικόμενος, I arrived before them. ἔφθην ἀφικόμενος, I arrived first.
- e) οὐκ ἂν φ θ ἀνοις ποιῶν τοῦτο, you cannot do this too soon.
- f) où x $\ddot{a}r$ ϕ ϑ \dot{a} ro ι ς π ou $\ddot{\omega}r$ τ ov τ or τ on t you do this directly? = do it directly.
- g) λέγε φθάσας, speak quickly; at once. ἀνύσας ι τρέχε, run immediately.

243. Vocabulary 41.

PREPOSITION ἀπό.

Signification, from; governs the genit.

To fight on horseback,
To have done supper,
To do a thing of themselves,
At the suggestion of others, Openly, άφ' έαυτῶν.

ἀφ' ἀνδρῶν ἐτέρων. ἀπὸ τοῦ προφανοῦς (from adj. προφανής).

PREPOSITION πρό.

Signification, before (of time, place and preference), in behalf of, for: governs genit,

For (=in behalf of) the king,

To value very highly, to attach great importance to,

To choose war before, in preference to, peace.

πρὸ τοῦ βασιλέως.

πρὸ πολλοῦ ποιεῖσθαι (to value before, i. e. more than, much. See 282). πρὸ εἰρήνης (for which ἀντί is used in 213, e).

k [κνέομαι (commonly ἀφικνέομαι), ἔξομαι, Ιγμαι. ἰκόμην.
From ἀνύσειν or ἀνύτειν, to accomplish.

Exercise 46.

244. The physician happened to be present. You cannot punish the boy too soon (242. e). The enemy arrived at the city before us. Go away immediately (242.g). Won't you go away directly (242.f)? If you do this before our enemies (do it), we have conquered. If you do this before me, I am undone. If we arrive at the city before them, all will be well. The slave broke the pitcher without being discovered. The Scythians fought on horseback. The father went in to the general without being observed. These Hoplites were drawn up before the king himself. He is too sensible to choose war before peace. He has done supper. Speak at once (242.g), if it is agreeable to those who are present. To incur danger in behalf of the state is honorable. It is the part of a good man to incur dangers himself for his friends. He did this at the suggestion of other persons. I should never have done this of myself. If Xenoclides had not been their general, they would never have dared to commence a war openly. Men enact laws, that 70 they may not be injured. Having done supper, they practised equestrian exercises.

§ 42. The Genitive Absolute, &c.

245. a) The case absolute is in Greek the genitive: it marks the time, or generally any such relation to the principal sentence, as we should express by when, after, since, as, because, though, if, &c.

246. b. c) The participles of impersonal verbs are put absolutely in the nominative; of course without a noun, and in the neuter gender.

m sis, if they went into it.

247. d) When the time relates to a person, ini is generally expressed.

248. e) When a motive is attributed to another person, the particle $\dot{\omega}_{\varsigma}$ is generally used with the gen. or acc. absolute.

- 249 a) ἐμοῦ καθεύδοντος, whilst I was as leep. τούτων οὕτως ἐχόντων, this being the case; or, as this is the case.
 - b) διὰ τί μένεις, ἐξὸν ἀπιέναι; why do you remain, when you are at liberty to go away?
 - c) So δέον ἀπιέναι, when, whereas, &c. you ought to go away. δόξαν ἡμῖν ἀπιέναι, when we have determined to go away. Also δόξαν ταῦτα, this being determined.

d) ἐπὶ Κύρου βασιλεύοντος, in the reign of Cyrus.

e) ἐσιώπα ὡς πάντας εἰδότας (or πάντων εἰδότων), he held his tongue, as supposing that all knew.

250. Vocabulary 42.

Words used in Nomin. Absolute.

When or whereas it was said or told,

P ἔστιν, ἔνεστι, πάρεστιν, ἔξεστι, &c. πράττειν, all signify, one can or may: but ἔνεστι relates to physical possibility (it is possible): ἔξεστι to moral possibility (it is allowed): ἔστι and παρέστι stand between these two meanings, without being confined to either of them; the latter implying also the notion of facility. (B.)

As far at least as this is concerned, as far as depends on this, τούτου γε ένεκα.

For the sake of,

Exercise 47.

251. Without you I should have perished for any thing my other friends could have done to prevent it. Why do you remain, when we have determined to succour our friends? Why do you hold your tongue, whereas you ought to speak? Why do you remain, now that you have an opportunity to depart? He asked the boy, why he remained, when it was his duty to depart. Though they were toldt to be present, they are not come. If it is agreeable to you,68 we will go away. I hope that we shall thus arrive before⁷⁷ the Persians. He had the same upper-chamber, whenever he wished. The slave told me, that the physicians were come (p) to combat the boy's disorder. If you act unjustly towards your slaves, know⁷⁴ that you will be punished by the gods. I knew that all the rest of the country had been ravaged by the Persians. Why did you choose war, when you might have chosen peace? He told me that all were permitted to go in to the general, whenever he was at leisure.

Exercise 48.

252. Cyrus evidently desired to be praised. I perceived that he wished to disobey the laws of his country. O boy, cease to do this, since (p) it is disgraceful to despise your father. The boy went secretly (241) into his father's house. But this being determined, we cannot set out too soon.⁷⁷ The master, as being a fool, was deceived by his slave. Do not practise many arts, since it is impossible to do every thing well. Let us not despise our relations. As far as money is concerned, you will rule over all the Greeks. Know that you will get off well, as far at least as this is concerned. He told me that, if any man was well suited to govern men, it was Cyrus. The physician told me, that he had come for my sake. This animal runs like a dog. This being the case, I will go away at once. All men, so to say, desire what is absent. It is the part of a senseless man, to hold cheap what is present, from the desire of what is absent. He said nothing himself, as supposing78 that all felt grateful to Xenoclides.

§ 43. The Relative.

253. a. b. c) The relative is often used to introduce a cause, ground, motive, or design of what is stated.

Obs. 1. When it expresses a cause or ground it takes the indic.; when it expresses a purpose (as in 258. c), the fut. indic. [or the subjunctive 1].

Obs. 2. The relative is not used merely to connect a sentence with the one before it so frequently as in Latin. When so used, it is probably always expressive of some emotion. (B.)

q 'Conjunctivus cum pronominibus adverbiisve relativis consociatus nonnisi in veterum epicorum sermone fini indicando inservit.' (Herm. ad Œd. Col. 190. So Krüger, Lachmann, &c.) Some MSS. read $\delta\pi\omega$; in the passage of Thucydides, 258. c.

- Obs. 3. 86 is not used as a mere antecedent to the relative, but ovros, which is not so strongly demonstrative.
- 254. d) The antecedent is often expressed in the relative clause, and omitted in the principal clause.

When this is the case, the relative clause often stands first; the subst., which mostly loses its article, is then not to be placed immediately after the relative.

255. e) The relative is often made to agree in case with the antecedent in the principal clause.

This is called Attraction of the Relative: it seldom takes place except where the relative should regularly stand in the accusative, the antecedent being in the gen. or dat. and without a demonstrative pronoun (as ovros, èkelvos).

256. g) When the relative is attracted, the antecedent is often placed in the relative clause, but in the case in which it would stand in the principal clause.

257. g) The antecedent is sometimes wholly omitted.

As, for instance, when it is some general or indefinite notion (man, thing, &c. as in 258. g, ex. 2), or has been before mentioned, as in 258. h.

In (258. h) the rel. seems under the government of a preposition belonging to the other clause. As in English sometimes,—"she would have the head of whosoever advised it."

258. a) θαυμαστον ποιείς δ ς ήμιν οὐδεν δ ίδως, you act strangely in giving us nothing.

b) ἐμακάριζον την μητέρα, ο ΐων τέκνων ἐκύρησε, they pronounced the mother happy in having such children. (Here οΐων = ὅτι τοιούτων.)

c) ή ναῦς πρεσβέῖς ἄγει, οἵπερ τὰ σφέτερα φράσωσι», the ship is bringing ambassadors to make (or, that they may make) their own statement.

δπλα κτῶνται, οίς ἀμυνοῦνται τοὺς ἀδικοῦντας, they are procuring arms to defend themselves with against those who injure them (or, with which to repel or punish those who injure them).

r More probably, φράσουσιν. (Krüger.)

d) οὖτός ἐστιν, ὃν είδες ἄνδρα, \ This is the man ον είδες ἄνδρα, οὖτός ἐστιν, \ you saw.

ATTRACTION OF RELATIVE.

e) μεταδίδως αὐτῷ τοῦ σίτου, ο ὁ περ αὐτὸς ἔχεις, you give him a portion of the food which you have yourself.

f) τῷ ἡγεμόνι πιστεύσομεν ῷ ἂν Κῦρος δῷ, we will confide in any general whom Cyrus may give us ! (for or ar').

g) ἀπολαύω" ὧν ἔχω ἀγαθῶν, I enjoy the good things I possess. μεμνημένος ὧν ἔπραξε, remembering what he had done.

h) μετεπέμπετο άλλο στράτευμα, προς φ πρόσθεν είχε, he sent for another army, in addition to the one he had before.

This verb (which is probably from the same root as $\lambda a\beta \epsilon \bar{\iota}\nu$. P.) is properly to receive from; to receive whether advantage or disadvantage from any thing. So that (like our, to reap the fruits of) it is used in both a good and a bad sense.

Plur. often σῖτα in Att. Greek, which is also found in Herodotus.
 ¬ ἀπολαύω, ἀπολαύσομαι. Imp. ἀπέλαυον, αοτ. ἀπέλαυσα, though no simple verb is found. ἀπήλαυον, ἀπήλαυσα are later forms.

The first of all, It depends upon you, Through the whole country, ἀνὰ πᾶσαν τὴν γῆν. Through the whole day, Every day, Every year, By fives, or five and five, To attend a master,

To send (a boy) to a master,

Exercise 49.

260. I pity the mother for having been deprived of such a daugher (258. b). I will give him some of the wine which I have. He sent for more wine in addition to what he had drunk already (258. h). This is the hare you saw (258. d). You act strangely in speaking ill even of your friends. He knew that I should enjoy the good things I possess (258. g). Receive the good things you desire (258. g). I have a stick to beat you with (258. c). The Hoplites arrived first of all. All these things depend on you. They harassed us all the day, so that (211) the Hoplites could not march. They went into the city by fives. Those who had plotted against the king entered (went into) the city by threes without being observed. 76 Say quickly, what your opinion is (what seems good to you). I, for my part, would choose peace in preference to all that I possess. I knew that (p) the citizens would choose³¹ peace in preference to war. Why do you wait, when it is your duty to succour your friend? The Athenians used to do this every year. They are not aware that (p) they are despised⁷⁴ by every body. They do this, not only every year, but also every day. I admire your lilies, but not * your brother's. The boy attends no master. We send our boys to masters.

Exercise 50.

261. I repented of having flogged⁷⁴ the slave. I indeed eat that I may live, but others live that they may eat. Socrates said, that he indeed ate that he might live, but that others lived that they might eat. The beauty of the city was admired by all who were-there.1 He said that if the citizens obeyed the laws of the state, they would prosper (102). I wonder at the water being turned into wine. The widow would have died 87 but for^{ss} her hen, which (p) laid her an egg every day. The beauty of the boy was admired by Socrates himself. The Persian cavalry unexpectedly charged the ranks of the Greeks. He says that he (219) has a pain in his head. I perceived that he rejoiced in the wealth of the citizens.⁵ I am ashamed of being glad⁷⁴ that my daughter is beautiful. He is evidently 73 vexed at the misdeeds of his brothers. Henceforth let us despise nobody. The judge told me that we must persuade (120.c)the citizens. Would that you had done what you ought! Would that you would do what you ought! I am at a loss what to do (98).

262. a) When the relative, with such a verb as to be, call, believe, &c. stands in apposition to a noun, it generally agrees in gender with it, rather than its proper antecedent.

^{*} ov should stand last: it then takes an accent (ov).

- 263. b) žozir-oi-zirioi, some, and may be declined throughout:-
 - Ν. ἔστιν οῖ, ἔστιν αῖ, ἔστιν α.

G. ἔστιν ών.

- D. Ectivols, Ectivals, Ectivols, &c.
- 264. c) In the same way forw ore = sometimes; forw oπov, somewhere, &c.

265. d) So also forer with oores is used as an interrogative.

266. e) έφ' φ or φτε is, 'on condition that,' with the future indic. or the infin.

The relative in this construction answers to the demonstrative ἐπὶ τούτω: which, or ἐπὶ τοῖσόε, is not unfrequently expressed.

267. g) $dv\theta'$ dv, because, for (=dvi) τούτου dvi).

It may, however, be used in its proper meaning: 'in return for those things which,' &c.

- 268. h) el rig t does not express any doubt as to whether there was any, but is used as equivalent to δοτις, whosoever, whatsoever (= all that).
 - 269. a) $\varphi \delta \beta o \varsigma$, $\tilde{\eta} v \alpha i \delta \tilde{\omega} \kappa \alpha \lambda o \tilde{v} \mu \epsilon v$, the fear which we call bashfulness.
 - b) από των έν Σιχελία πόλεων έστιν ων, from some of the cities in Sicily.
 - c) ουσπερ είδον έστιν ο που, whom I saw somewhere.
 - d) ἔστιν οὖστινας ἀνθρώπους τεθαύμακας ἐπὶ σοφία; are there any persons whom you have admired for their wisdom?

e) λέξω σοι, έ φ' φ σιγήσει, I will tell you, on condition that you will hold your tongue.

f) ήρέθησαν έφ' ῷ τε συγγράψαι νόμους, they were chosen on the condition that they should draw up laws (i. e. to draw up laws).

b ris indef. has gen. του, dat. τω (both enclitic), for τινός, τινί. So δστις has δτου, δτώ.

For 'sunt qui dicant' the Greeks said, έστιν οι λέγουσιν, οτ είσιν οί λέγοντες, οτ είσιν οι λέγουσιν. Examples of the last construction are not uncommon. (Kr.)

g) χάριν σοι οίδα ἀνθ' ών ηλθες, I feel thankful to you for coming.

h) έφθειφον εί τι χρήσιμον ήν, they destroyed every thing of value.

Exercise 51.

271. I deem you happy in having received such good things. Most men evidently desire78 the good things which their neighbours possess. I will go away on condition that the physician shall stay. Some of them were wounded by the enemy. I will tell you, on condition that the others shall hold their tongue. Is there any person whom (269. d) you have praised for b his forwardness? I will endeavour to do this so that (211) even you shall praise me. I would choose liberty before all the good things I possess (258. g). He chose war, when he might have peace. Xenoclides was chosen general, with three others.21 I rejoice to have been elected 74 general by the Athenians. Why am I wretched, when I may become happy? I am at enmity with Abrocomas. He was banished through the Athenians. I rejoice in seeing you 74 after some time. Know that it is through the gods' that you are doing well. Know that it is through me that you have returned from banishment. The physician is come on your account. They do this every five years. The boy pursues the dog with (having) a stick in his hand.

OBS. 1. This attraction consists in the omission of the demonstrative adjective in the gen., dat., or accus., and then putting the relative adject., by attraction, in the case of the preceding substant. The verb of the relative sentence ($\epsilon i\mu i$) is also omitted, and the subject of the relat. sentence agrees with the attracted relative.

I would gladly gratify such men as you. They leapt down from the wall. Do you wish (98) that I should speak the truth against my friend? The boy is like his father in every respect. This is (65) hard, and for men like us impossible. The king loved such men as you are. The boy has made astonishing progress. He said that he would very gladly gratify a man like you. Men like you always speak well of the good. A man like you is praised by every body. I would rather see men like you, than the king of the Persians himself. He has become very wretched, unknown to himself. I cannot gratify a man like you too soon. Will you not gratify a man like me directly?" Sophroniscus, as being selfish, obliged nobody, willingly at least.45 All men, so to say,46 like to oblige such men as you. All men, so to say, rejoice in praising" such a man as you are. These things happened in the time of the disease. I know that they dwell in villages. The eagle has wings in proportion to its body. To live according to reason is a different thing (from living •) according to passion. I will tell you on condition that you (will) send your boy to some master (259).

276. In ovders over ov (nemo non) the declinable words are put under the immediate government of the verb.

Kühner calls this inverted attraction, because the noun (or word representing it) conforms to the relative, not the relative to the Sometimes adverbs are affected by this kind of attraction: Añrac κείθεν, δθεν περ ήκει (for κείσε).

§ 47. οίος. δέω. μέλλω.

280. a. b) olog with the infinitive implies great fitness or ability in a thing: $\tau \dot{\epsilon}$ is usually joined with olog in this signification; as olog $\tau \dot{\epsilon}$ eight noise, I am the man, the fittest one to do it, I am able to do it, can do it. Without the infinitive, with neuter, olog denotes possibility.

281. c. d) δέω with ὀλίγου, πολλοῦ, &c. is used both personally and impersonally, in the meaning of I want but little of, am far from doing, &c.: impers. πολλοῦ δεῖ, there wants much, far from it; ὀλίγου δεῖ, there wants little, all but, &c. Sometimes δεῖν is omitted with ὀλί-you, &c.

282. e.f) μέλλω is followed by an infin. of the future, present, or aorist.

OBS. The future infin. is the most, the aorist the least common. (P.)

283. a) ο ί ος τ έ είμι, I am able (i. e. am such as to do a thing). ο ί ο τ τ έ ἐστι, it is possible.

b) οἱ πρόσθεν ὀδόντες ο ἱοι τέμνειν εἰσίν, our front teeth are adapted for cutting.

où γὰρ ἢν ο ἴος ἀπὸ παντὸς κερδαίνειν, he was not of a character to do any thing whatever for the sake of gain.

In there is a large class of verbs the object of which, expressed by an infinitive, relates to future time, and may, therefore, be in the future, though it often is in the pres. or aor. "The present is preferred when either the certain definite occurrence of the action is to be marked, or its immediate commencement from the time the words are uttered." (K.) Buttmann properly observes, that a distinction should be made between verbs whose object is necessarily future (e. g. hope, promise, expect) and those where the object is not necessarily future (e. g. say, think, &c.): with the latter the pres. or aor. might be misunderstood; with the former, not. But the MSS. often agree in giving the pres. or aor. (with reference to future time) after such verbs. (B. ad Plat. Crit. 14. 3.)

v Or, was not a man to, &c.

c) ολίγου δέω δακρῦσαι, I could almost cry; or am near crying.

όλίγου δεῖν ἐδάκρυσα, I was near crying. όλίγου πάντες, nearly all (δεῖν omitted). τοῦτο γὰρ πολλοῦ δεῖν εἴποι τις ἄν, for a man would not assert that, far from it.

d) δυοίν δέοντα ▼ είκοσι, eighteen.

e) μέλλω γράψειν, γράφειν, γράψαι, I am going to write.

f) εἰ μέλλει φιλόσοφος γενέσθαι, if he is to become a philosopher.

The construction δυοῖν δεόντοιν has disappeared, under the influence of modern criticism, from the works of the great writers, with the single exception of Xen. Hell. i. 1, 5: ἐπεισπλεῖ δυοῖν δεούσαιν εἶκοσι ναυσίν, where δεούσαις is undoubtedly the proper reading. (Krūger.)

286. c. d) The verb on which the sentence with $\delta \pi \omega \varsigma$ depends is often omitted.

Rem. This construction is equivalent to an energetic imperative:
— ὅρα οτ δρᾶτε may be supplied.

287. où $\mu \dot{\eta}$, with the fut. indic. or aor. subj., is used as an emphatic prohibition or denial.

REM. 1. This construction is probably elliptical: οἰ (δέος ἐστὶ) μη . . . &c.

With the second pers. sing. of the future indic. it is a prohibition; with the subj., and other persons of the future, a denial.

- Rem. 2. Elmsley says: "où $\mu\dot{\eta}$ cum futuro vetantis est, cum subjunctivo vero negantis;" but Hermann shows, that the prohibitive meaning depends on the person, not on the tense. Elmsley explained this phrase in what seems the simpler way, by joining the $\mu\dot{\eta}$ to the verb. Thus où $\mu\dot{\eta}$ $\lambda a\lambda\dot{\eta}\sigma\varepsilon\iota\varsigma$; = will you not not-talk? = will you not hold your tongue? = hold your tongue. But Hermann (who at first agreed with Elmsley), Rost, Kühner, &c. adopt the other explanation, supposing $\delta\dot{\epsilon}o\varsigma$ $\dot{\epsilon}\sigma r\dot{\iota}$, or some such phrase, understood.
- 287*. a) φρόντιζε ὅ πως μηδὲν αἰσχρὸν ποι ή σεις, take care to do nothing disgraceful.
 - b) ξυνεβούλευεν οὕτω ποιεῖν, ὅπως ὁ σῖτος ἀντίσχη, he advised them to do this, that the provisions might hold out.

† The fut. with $\delta\pi\omega_s$ expresses a definite intention, for the accomplishment of which vigorous measures are to be pursued. (R.)

^{*} ὅπως is properly 'how,' and it cannot be used for 'that,' except where for 'that' we might substitute 'that by this means,' or 'that so.' With the future indic. it is always strictly 'how,' ὅτω τρόπω.

b Dawes laid it down as a rule, that the subjunctive of the aor. 1. act and mid. was never used with $\ddot{o}\pi\omega_{\varsigma}$, or $\mu\dot{n}$, but that the fut. indic. was used instead. This rule is now given up by the best scholars; but Buttmann thinks that the subj. of the aor. 2. was employed with a kind of predilection, and that, when the verb had no such tense, the fut. indic. was used in preference to the subj. of the aor. 1.

c) οπως ἀνηρ ἔσει, that you behave (or quit zourself) like a man.

d) οπως μη ποιήσητε, ο πολλάκις ύμᾶς έβλαψεν, be sure not to do what has often been detrimental to you.

§ 49. μή. μη οὐ.

290. a. b) After expressions of fear, solicitude, uncertainty, &c. μή is used with the subjunctive or indic.

[·] βέλτιστος.

Obs. The indic. is used when the speaker wishes to intimate his conviction that the thing feared, &c. has or will really come to pass. Of course the subj. becomes the opt. in connection with time past, and in a dependent proposition. (70, 71.)

291. c) The notion of fear is often omitted before $\mu \dot{\eta}$ où, the verb being then generally in the subj.

292. $f(g) \mu \eta = 0$ is also used with the infin. after many negative expressions:—

1) After to hinder, deny, feel misgiving, &c. when they have a negative with them; if not (as in 293. c), they are used with $\mu\eta$, where we use no negative.t

- 4) μη ού is also sometimes used with the participle d and with ωστε and infin., after negative expressions.
- 293. a) δέδοικα μη θάνω, I fear that I shall die. δέδοικα μη ο ν θάνω, I fear that I shall not die.
 - b) φοβοῦμαι μη εύ ρήσο μεν, I fear we shall find. φοβουμαι μη άμφοτέρων η μαρτή καμεν, I fear that we have missed (lost) both.

c) άλλὰ μὴ οὐχ ἢ διδακτόν, but perhaps it is a thing that cannot be taught.

- d) εί δε γενησόμε θα έπι βασιλεί, τί έμποδών μή ο ύχὶ πάντα τὰ δεινότατα παθόντας ἀποθαyeir; but if we shall fall into the power of the king, what will prevent us from being put to death, after suffering all that is most terrible?
- e) αποχωλύσαι τοὺς Ελληνας μη έλθεῖν, to prevent the Greeks from coming. q o v o v vτο μη πεπτωκέναι, they (denied that they had fallen) said that they did not fall. άπιστουντες αύτον μη ήξειν, not believing that he would come.

4 Thus δυσάλγητος γάρ αν | είην τοίανδε μή ου κατοικτείρων εδραν. (Soph. Ant. 96.)

[†] But the μή is not always expressed after verbs of hindering, preventing, &c. σχήσω σε πηδαν, &c.

f) σὸ γὰρ ὑπέσχου ζητήσειν, ὡς ο ὑχ ὅσιόν σοι ὃν μη ο ὑ βοηθεῖν δικαιοσύνη, for you promised to investigate it (with us), as holding it impious in you not to come to the assistance of justice.

g) οὖτε μὴ μεμνῆσθαι δύναμαι αὐτοῦ, οὖτε μεμνημένος μὴ οὐκ ἐπαινεῖν, I can neither not remember him, nor remembering not praise him.

294. I fear his coming to some harm (lest he should suffer something). I feared the boy would come to some harm. I fear we shall find, that (p) these things are not so. I fear about my boy lest he should come to some harm. The father, though he feared about his boy, nevertheless went away. I cannot either go or stay (110). I knew that they would prevent74 the king from coming (293. e) into the country. I fear that we have treated them ill. I fear that the rascal will not die. It is disgraceful not to defend the laws of our country. Nothing prevents this from being (293. e) What prevents us from dying at once? It is a disgrace not to be without fear of death. It is a terrible thing, not to bear what comes from the gods. It is not right, not to choose to fight for one's country. It is not right not to die for one's country, if it be necessary. I am ashamed not to appear to have conferred great benefits upon my country. I fear this will happen. After this, what prevents us from dying? They sent out men to prevent themt from coming into the country.

§ 50. μή with Relatives, the Infinitive, &c.

295. a. c) $\mu\dot{\eta}$ is used in relative sentences and with participles, adjectives, &c., whenever the negative does not directly and simply deny an assertion with respect to some particular mentioned person or thing.

Hence relative sentences, participles, and adjectives take μή, [†] See 238*, the third example.

whenever they might be resolved into a sentence with 'if,' or describe only a supposed case: not particular individuals, but individuals of a class.k

296. d) The infinitive generally takes $\mu \dot{\eta}$, except where the opinions or assertions of another person are stated (in sermone obliquo). See 110.

297. b) With δοτε the infinitive takes μή, the indicative ov.

298. α) τίς δε δούναι δύναται ετέρφ, ἃ μη αύτος έχει; but who can give to another what he has not got himself?

> b) ἀσφάλειάν σοι παρέξονται, ώστε σε μηδένα lunei, they will afford you security, so that no man shall annoy you.

πράγματα παρεῖχον, ώστε οὐκέτι ἐδύνατο τὸ στράτευμα πορεύεσθαι, they harassed them, so that the army could not advance further (any longer).

c) οὐδεὶς . . . ὄστις μη παρέσται, no one who shall not be present (or, who is not present)." ὁ μὴ πιστεύων, he who does not believe.

τὰ μὴ καλά, dishonorable things.

d) τὸ μὴ τιμᾶν γέροντας ἀνόσιόν ἐστι, it is wrong (an unholy thing) not to honour old men.

e) μη γένοιτο," may it not be so! μη ίδοις τοῦτο, may you never see this!

^{*} The thing to be considered, with respect to a relative or participial clause, is, whether it introduces some new particular concerning the object spoken of, or forms one complex notion with it. In this way it merely restricts the general notion to a particular sense; the thing spoken of being, not the substantive itself, but the substantive so limited.

Or ως, which is used (though less frequently) in the same way. m In connection with future time, the Greeks and Romans marked the futurity of the condition or connected notion. We generally do not. Thus in the example we should say, 'a man who is not present,' taking that as a general notion, without referring it to the time of the other verb. The future must be used when it is necessary to mark this out; but to use it always, as some writers do, who plume themselves upon their accuracy, is against the idiom of our language; of which any one may convince himself by examining a few consecutive pages of the English Bible.

Translated by 'God forbid!' in the English Bible.

300. He who (p) does not love his father, is impious. I fear it may be impious not to honour old men. No one who is not present (298. c), shall receive money. I entreat you not to stay. The sons of the Persians of the present day" pursue what is dishonorable. He who (p) does not trust God, has become miserable, unknown to himself.76 Not to love one's own children is wicked. It is not possible for me to give you what I do not possess myself. He is too wise ont to know that. Not to do good to your friends, when (p) you can, is wicked. Pursue those things which are not (p) against the laws of the gods He said that, if there was any occasion, he would labour³⁷ more than the rest. Know that I will incur⁷⁴ this danger with you (pl.) Besides his bread he has wine. I am conscious of having had a narrow escape from death. He was very lazy, so as to undergo no labour voluntarily. He was very lazy, so that he underwent no labour, at least willingly.45 I had a narrow escape from those who were pursuing me. These things happened contrary to what was expected. If we conquer the barbarians in^{42} one more battle, we shall be in safety. I have received this wine from the faithful slave. They denied that they were (293. e) the actual murderers. I suspect p that this is impious. He went away, because (p) he suspected that it was impious to remain. Shall we say this (99) or not?

§ 51. Some Adverbs of Time, &c.

301. a) Some adverbs govern a noun in the same case as the adjectives from which they are derived.

P ὑποπτεύω is followed by acc. and infin., or (when it implies, fear) by μή. ὑποπτεύσας μή τι πρὸς τῆς πόλεως ὑπαίτιον εἶη, &c. (Xen. An. iii. 1, 53)

302. 1) Hence comparatives and superlatives take the genitive. 2) Some particles are sometimes simply adverbs, and sometimes prepositions governing a case: e. g. αμα όμοῦ, together:—αμα, (or όμοῦ) τοῖς ἄλλοις.

303. b) ω_{ς} , as a preposition (= $\pi \varrho \dot{\sigma}_{\varsigma}$), is only joined to persons.

304. Some adverbs, especially relative ones, refer to verbs and whole clauses, and thus connect propositions

This is the origin of conjunctions.

- 305. d) $\tilde{a}\chi\varrho_i$ or $\mu\dot{\epsilon}\chi\varrho_i$, $\tilde{\epsilon}\omega\varsigma^{\varsigma}$ and $\tilde{\epsilon}\sigma\tau\epsilon$, both in the sense of 'until,' and in that of 'as long as,' govern the subj. or opt. when there is any uncertainty; the indic. when not.
- 306. 1) Of course the opt. will appear without \tilde{a}_{ν} in oratione obliqua, even where there is no uncertainty. 2) Hence, when a thing is spoken of as an object or purpose contemplated, the subj. with \tilde{a}_{ν} will be used in connection with pres. or future time; the optative, in connection with past time and the oratio obliqua.

307. e) $\pi \varrho i \nu$, as being a comparative, takes i' (which however is often omitted), and generally the infinitive;

but the subj. with av, if the event is future.

Hence the subj. with $\tilde{a}\nu$ will be used after the imperative and future with negatives: i. e. when before = till.

308. a) ἀξίως ἡμῶν πολεμήσομεν, we will conduct the war in a manner worthy of ourselves.

b) εἰσῆλθεν ώς ἐμέ, he came in to me.

With $\pi \rho i \nu$ and $\eta \nu i \kappa a$, and (in poetry) with $\mu \epsilon \chi \rho \iota$, $\tilde{a} \chi \rho \iota$, $\tilde{\epsilon} \omega s$, the subj. is sometimes found without av. (K.)

q $\mu \dot{\epsilon} \chi \rho \iota \varsigma$ of is often found: So $\dot{\epsilon} \omega \varsigma$ of, &c.

And according to Hermann (against Elmsley) with ἄν. "Ubi in rectâ oratione πρὶν ἄν et similes particulæ conjunctivum requirunt, in oratione obliquâ manet ἄν, sed conjunctivo substituitur optativus ut proprius orationis obliquæ modus." (Præf. ad Trach. p 8.)—Hartung says: "When the optative thus takes (in oblique narration) the place of the subjunctive (in direct), the particle ἄν may, whenever one pleases, be left at his old post." (Partikellehre, ii. 304.)—Poppo, however, rejects ἄν from Xen. An. vii. 7, 35. ἐδέοντο μὴ ἀπελθεῖν πρίν ᾶν ἀπαγάγοι τὸ στράτευμα (which in direct narration would be, μὴ ἀπέλθης πρὶν ᾶν ἀπαγάγης), a passage quoted by Hartung.

c) παρέσομαι οπότε κελεύσεις, I will be with you whenever you bid me.

d) περιμενώ έως αν (or μέχρις αν) έλθη, I will wait till he comes (venerit).

ποίησον τοῦτο ἔως ἔτι ἔξεστι, do this whilst you still may.

έστε (μεν) αι σπονδαὶ ήσαν, ούποτε επαυόμην ἡμᾶς οἰκτείρων, as long as the treaty lasted, I never ceased to think upon ourselves with pity.

ούποτε λήγουσιν έστ αν άρχωσιν αὐτων, they never leave off till they rule over them.

e) πρίν η έλθεῖν έμέ (or πρίν έλθεῖν έμέ before I came. πρὶν ἂν ἔλθω, till I come (= till I shall have come; venero).

Exercise 58.

210. Do not go away till I come. I will not cease

* Also πρὶν ἦλθον ἐγώ. The preceding clause has often πρόσθεν in it, which makes the $\pi \rho i \nu$ appear superfluous.

[&]quot; είθες and είθε are no more different words than μέχρις and μέχρι: but the Attics generally used εὐθύς of time, εὐθύ of place. It is only acci dentally, that sides is identical in form with the masc, adjective fighting till I have conquered you. It is not possible for you to conquer your enemies out of the city, till you have chastised those in the city itself. He went away before I came. I was banished myself before you returned-from-banishment. Whilst you are still at leisure, speak. We were afraid, till (μέχρις) the Greeks sailed away. They did not cease till (before) they sent for the boy's father. We used to wait about till the gates were opened. I will not go away till (before) I have conquered you. He said, that he would come to us, whilst he still might. Do not cease, till you have mastered your temper. Whilst you remain, combat the boy's disorder. He said that he feared the gods most, whenever he was most prosperous (was doing best). The general went in to the king. And they (of persons before mentioned, 38) obeyed, except if any man stole any thing. He said that he was nearly related 52 to him. They march straight to the city. Immediately on his arrival, he told me that we ought to set about 38 the task. From our very birth we want many things. He died as soon as he was born.

§ 52. On Interrogative Sentences.

311. Besides the interrogative adverbs and pronouns, the following particles are used in questions.

312. $\tilde{a}\varrho\alpha$ is mostly used in questions that imply something of uncertainty, doubt, or surprise.

313. The answer 'Yes' is expected by,— αο' ου'; η γαο; ου'; ουκουν; αλλο τι η;

314. The answer 'No' is expected by,— ἄρα μή; ἢ που (num forte?); μή οτ μῶν; ▼ περιμένω.

 μῶν=μὴ οὖν: but the etymology being forgotten, οὖν is sometimes used with it. Also μῶν μή; and μῶν οὐ; the latter requiring an assenting answer (=nonne?).

Oss où expects yes; $\mu\dot{\epsilon}$, no.—où is often followed by $\mu\dot{\epsilon}\nu\tau\sigma\iota$: also by $\dot{\epsilon}\dot{\tau}$, $\dot{\epsilon}\dot{\eta}$ with which it has an ironical force, I imagine, for sooth, Also où $\tau\iota$ way.

315. h. i) হায় ইমহায় (then—and yet—and nevertheless) express astonishment and displeasure, implying that what they suppose has been done, is inconsistent with something before mentioned.

316. k) From the frequent use of allo $\pi i \tilde{\eta}$, it came to be used as a simple interogative particle, and the $\tilde{\eta}$ was often dropt.* It is then better to write it as one word, allow (K.)

317. τίπαθών; (having suffered what? =) what possesses you to . . . &c.?

τί μαθών; (having learnt what? = what induces you to ... &c.?

These phrases are used in indignant, reproachful questions: the former obviously relates to the feelings; the latter to the understanding, and consequently to more deliberate offences.

318. a) ἀρ εὐτυχεῖς; are you prosperous?

d) η γαρ, εάν τι έρωτα σε Σωχράτης, ἀποχρινεῖ; if Socrates puts any question to you, you will answer him, will you not? [Yes.]

e) ο ὖτι πον ἐγὼ ἀγροικίζομαι; surely I am not behaving rudely am I? [No.]

f) μῶν τί σε ἀδικεῖ; he has not injured you in any respect has he? [No.]

g) μή τι νεώτερον ' ἀγγέλλεις; you bring no bad news I hope, do you? [No.]

* Stallbaum thinks it was dropt in animated, impassioned questions, and retained in those of a more sedate and sober character.

The present of this word is used for the perfect, for a man continues to wrong us till he has made us reparation. (Heindorf, Protag. 463.)

² νεώτερον for νέον (a new thing; news), and that per euphemismum for κακόν. (Heind. Prot. 461.)

h) εἶτ ἐσίγας Πλοῦτος ὤν; and did you then hold your tongue, you Plutus.?

i) έπειτ ο ὐχ οἴει θεοὺς ἀνθρώπων τι φροντίζειν; do you then really not think that the gods regard mankind?

k) ἄλλο τι ἢ περὶ πλείστου ποιῆ, ὅπως ὡς βέλτιστοι οἱ νεώτεροι ἔσονται; do not you look upon it as a thing of extreme importance, that the rising generation should turn out as well as possible?

αλλοτι οὖν οἵγε φιλοκερδεῖς φιλοῦσι τὸ κέρδος; what! do not the covetous love gain?

320. Are not these things for our interest rather than for that of our enemies (318.b)? Is not he wholly wrapt up in these things? You do not surely wish to have wine in addition to your bread (318. c)? I do not surely act insolently do I (318. e)? You are not come to bring us (p) any bad news, I hope (are you)? [No.] And are you, then, not without fear of death, though (p) a pious man (318. h)? And do you, then, not think that you shall be punished for what you have done (p. pass.) against the laws of the gods? What possesses you to strike. a free man? What induces you not to choose to stay with us any longer? What possesses you, that you will not cease to behave-insolently towards your friends? These things are not more for the interest of our enemies than of us, are they? [No.] Have you been in any respect dishonoured by Xenoclides? Do you not think it a most important thing, that your children should be brought up as well as possible (318. k)? It is not like a pious man to fear death excessively. The other party are more on Cyrus's side. Know that these things are 74 for the interest of Cyrus. I know that he is on the side of the Athenians. De we not both see and hear from our very birth? 95

[&]quot; Translate as if it were, 'having suffered what do you strike?' &c.

§ 53. Indirect single Questions.

321. a) The proper forms for indirect questions are those pronouns and adverbs which are formed from the direct interrogatives by the prefixed relative syllable δ —, which gives them a connecting power.

Thus from πόσος; ποῖος; ποῦ; πόθεν; πῶς; &c. are formed ὁπόσος, ὁποῖος, ὅπου, ὁπόθεν, ὅπως, &c.

So $\delta\sigma\tau\iota\varsigma$, formed by prefixing the relative to $\tau\iota\varsigma$, is the proper dependent interrogative. See 72, note y.

- 322. But as the Greeks often pass from oblique to direct narration, so they often use the simple interrogatives in dependent questions; and even, as in (b), intermix the two.
- 323. c) Occasionally, though very seldom, the relative forms themselves are used in dependent questions.
 - c) When, as in this example, a pronoun or noun is the accus. after the first verb, and the nom. before the second, it is generally expressed in the accus., b and not in the nominative.
- 324. d) When the person of whom the question is asked repeats it, he uses the forms beginning with δ —.
 - 325. a) οὐκ οἶδα (οτ οὐκ ἔχω) ὅποιτράπωμαι. (See 72.b).
 οὐκ οἶδα ὅ στις ἐστί, Ι don't know who he is. οὐκ οἶδα ὅ πως τὸ πρᾶγμα ἔπραξεν, Ι don't know how he did the thing. ἀπόκριναι ἀνδρείως ὁ π ότε ρ α σοι φαίνεται, answer boldly which of the two is your opinion.

b) ίσμεν ε πόσα τέ έστι καὶ ὁ ποῖα, we know both how many they are, and of what kind.

c) ὁρᾶς οὖν ἡμᾶς, ἔφη, ὅσοι ἐσμέν; do you see, said he, how many we are? (or how many there are of us?)

• See 71. c.

b The accusative is generally retained in the English Bible; "I know thee, who thou art," &c.

d) οὖτος, t τί ποιεῖς;—δ, τι ποιῶ; you there, what are you doing?—what am I doing?

will hold his tongue though he should have 31 much to say. If the slave should die by your hands, you will be punished. Do you see how many there are of the enemy? He says that he has been entrusted with these things. 41 These things happened about the same time.

§ 54. Double Questions.

328. Direct double questions are asked by πότερον (or πότερα)—η, less commonly by ἆρα—η.

Rem. μῶν—ἢ is still less common: ἢ—ἢ belongs to poetry, especially epic poetry.

329. Indirect double questions are asked by είτε—είτε: εί--ή: πότερον--ή.

Rem. ħ—ħ belongs to epic poetry, though occasionally found in Attic poets. εἶτε—ħ, and εί—εἶτε, are also used by poets.

330. a) πότερον ἔψονται Κύρφ, ἢ οῦ; will they follow Cyrus or not?

πρὶν δῆλον εἶναι . . . πότερον ἔψονται Κύρφ, ἢ οῦ, before it was known, whether, &c.

b) τούτφ τὸν νοῦν πρόσεχε, εἰ δίκαια λέγω, ἢ μή, attend to this, whether what I speak is just or not.

c) σχοπῶμεν εἴτε εἰχὸς οὕτως ἔχειν, εἴτε μή, let us consider whether it is likely to be so, or not.

331. VOCABULARY 54.

The road home, ή οἴκαδε • ὁδός.

To suffer a thing to be done, to allow it to be περιοράω. done with impunity.

• oἶκαδε is from the acc. of a shorter form (such as οἶξ, οἰκός) of οἶκος. Though this form does not occur, several similar ones do; e. g. dλκί, κρόκα, for ἀλκῆ, κρόκην. (B.)

It takes the infinitive if the thing is to be prevented; the participle if it is to be avenged. Of course (by 73, note r) περιδότεν will be used for aor., περιόψεσθαι for fut.—The phrase brings to one's mind our 'to

Exercise 61.

332. I don't know whether he is alive or dead. If you attend to your affairs yourselves, all will be well. If you attended to your affairs yourselves, all would be well. If you had attended to your affairs yourselves, all would be well. I will not allow our land to have been ravaged with impunity. Are the same dogs pursuing the sheep, or not? Go away boldly on condition of holding your tongue.

I fear that we shall forget our road home. I knew that they would not suffer? their country to be ravaged. O citizens, let us not suffer our country to be ravaged. They will not stand by and see us injured. They made peace on condition that both (parties) should retain (have) their own. He said that Xenoclides was too wise to be deceived by his slaves. He says that more arms were taken than could have been expected from the number of the dead. He says that he? is not afraid of death. The king sent persons to restore (the exile) Xenoclides (238*, third example).

§ 55. Observations on si, iár.

333. a) εί is used for ὅτι (that, after θαυμάζω, and some other verbs expressive of feelings.

Neut. of sirás, part. of šoina (am like), which has three forms of part. toinás, sirás, oinás. (B.)

stand by and see' (a man injured); but it gets its meaning in a different way; i. e. not from the notion of seeing and yet not acting, but from that of not seeing, of looking round about an object instead of at it. Hence it agrees more nearly with our to everlook (an offence).

This arises from the Attic habit of avoiding positiveness in speaking; which, in this case, speaks of what may be quite certain as only probable.

334. b) ϵi is (as we have seen, 80) used for 'whether:' it has this meaning after verbs of seeing, knowing, considering, asking, saying, trying, &c.

335. ¿ár is also used in this way with the subjunctive when the question relates to an expected case that remains to be proved. (K.)

336. a) ἀγανακτῶ εἰ ούτωσὶ μα νοῶ μη οἰός τ' εἰμὶ εἰπεῖτ, I am indignant at being so unable to express my meaning.

οὖκ ἀγαπᾶ εἰ μὴ δίκην ἔδωκεν, he is not contented with not having been punished.

θανμάζω εί μηδεὶς ὑμῶν ὀργίζεται, Lam astonished, that not one amongst you is angry.

b) σκέψαι εἰ ὁ Ἑλλήνων νόμος κάλλιον ἔχει, consider whether the Grecian law is better.

σκέψαι έὰν τόδε σοὶ μᾶλλον ἀρέσκη, see whether this pleases you better.

μηδε τοῦτο ἄξόητον έστω μοι, ἐάν σέ πως πείσω, nor let me leave this unsaid, if I may by any means persuade you (i. e. that I may see whether) I can, &c.

337. VOCABULARY 55.

Am indignant,

O Athenians, Please, άγανακτέω (dative; but it takes the accus. of a neut. pron.)

ω ἄνδρες 'Αθηναῖοι. ἀρέσκω κ (dat.)

i The Attics use σκοπῶ, σκοποθμαι, for present (not σκέπτομαι), but σκέ-ψομαι, ἐσκεψάμην, and ἔσκεμμαι, from σκέπτομαι, depon. middle.

λ ἀρέσκω, ἀρέσω, &c perf. pass. ἤρεσμαι: ἡρεσθην.

h Demonstrative pronouns and adverbs are strengthened by what is called the i demonstrativum, which is a long accented i answering to -ce in Lat. Short vowels are thrown away before it. ούτοσί (this man here), ούτητ, τουτί, &c. So ούτωσί.

Exercise 62.

338. It is this very thing, O Athenians, that I am indignant at, that you allow half your country (58) to have been ravaged with impunity. This it is that I am indignant at. Cyrus being indignant, sets out with (part.) five horsemen for Sardis. He pleases more men than any other single person. He says that he is of a mild disposition (137. a). I asked him whether the king was of a mild disposition or not. Do you see how many are suffering the same as you (182. a)? Do you know of what kind the laws of the Persians are (323)? You there, what do you say?—What do I say! Although, if any man is of a mild disposition, it is he. I wonder that you are not able to go in without being observed. He says that he is not of a character to do any thing whatever for the sake of gain (283).

§ 56. Condensed Questions.

339. a. b. c) By attaching the interrogative to a participle, or using it in an oblique case, the Greeks employ a single sentence in questions where we must use two.

REM. Thus in translating from English into Greek, a relative clause attached to an interrogative one will be got rid of.

340. a) τί ᾶν ποιοῦντες ἀναλάβοιεν τὴν ἀρχαίαν ἀρετήν; what must they do to recover their ancient virtue? (or, by what conduct can they, &c.?)

b) καταμεμάθηκας οὖν τοὺς τί ποιοῦντας τὸ ὅνομα τοῦνο ἀποκαλοῦσιν; (have you learnt =) do you know, then, what those persons do, to whom men apply this name?

¹ I am indignant at this thing itself.

c) τίνας τούσδ ὁ ρῶ ξένους; who are these strangers whom I behold?

Exercise 63.

342. One swallow does not make a spring. He told me that one swallow did not make a spring. I asked by what conduct I should please the gods. The eagle is having its eyes burnt out. I He says that the eagle has had its eyes burnt out. With what view did the other party march into the country of the Scythians the same spring? The peacock lays only once a year. He (p) who commits no injury, requires no law. By Apollo, I will be with you, if I am wanted. By Minerva, I will free the boy from his disorder. Who is this physician that you are bringing (340. c)? Will you not go away at once?—No, by Jupiter, not I (xywys). Even if

The art. is generally used except in μη or μα Δία.

He envies every body. ⁸⁶ By Neptune, there is nobody he does not plot against (277). Envy nobody. The nightingale sings most beautifully.

§ 57. Various Constructions.

343. a) $\eta \mu \dot{\eta} \nu$ is a solemn form of asseveration.

344. b) The prepos. σύν is omitted before αὐτῷ, αὐτῷ,

&c. which then = together with, with.

345. c) ἀμφότερον is used adverbially (or elliptically) by the poets; both; as well—as, &c. So ἀμφότερα is used in reference to two words, without being made to conform to them in case.

346. d) When xai refers to allog, it has the force of especially, in particular.

347. e) έργεσθαι, ιέναι, with part. fut., is to be going to, or on the point of.

348. f. g) Sometimes έχω makes an emphatic circumlocution with the past particip.: and with some verbs (e.g. the 2nd pers. of ληρεῖν, παίζειν, φλυάρεῖν) it is used to make a good-humoured observation.

349. h) φέρων appears redundant in some expressions, but denotes a vehemence of purpose not altogether free from blame.

Hence it answers to our to go and do a (foolish, impetuous) thing; to take a thing and fling it away, &c.

350. a) η μην έπαθον τοῦτο, I protest that I suffered this. ὅμνυμι ἡ μην δώσεῖν, I swear that I will assuredly give (or, solemnly swear that I will give).

^{*} δμνυμι, δμοθμαι, όμώμοκα. ὤμοσα. Perf. pass. όμώμοσμαι, but the other persons and aor. 1. pass. more commonly without the σ.

- b) ἀπώλοντο αἱ νῆες αὐτοῖς ἀνδράσω, the ships were lost together with their crews.
- c) διαφέροντες η σοφία η κάλλει η άμφ όπερα, distinguished either for wisdom or beauty, or both.
- d) τά τε ἄλλα εὐδαιμονεῖ καὶ παῖδας ἔχει κατηκόους αὑτῷ, he is happy both in other respects and especially in having obedient children.

e) ὅπερ τω ἐρῶν, what I was going to say.

f) πάλαι θαυμάσας έχω, I have long been wondering.

g) παίζεις " έχων, you are joking.

h) ὑπέβαλεν ἐαυτὸν φ έ ρ ων Θηβαίοις, he went and flung himself into the hands of the Thebans.

351. VOCABULARY 57.

To swear,

Just as he was,

όμνυμι (acc. of the god or thing sworn by). ήπες οτ ώσπες είχεν.

Exercise 64.

352. The damsel is beautiful in person (137) in other respects, and especially has very beautiful eyes. He swore that he would assuredly give them three talents if he had them. I swear that I will assuredly do this. I swear by all the gods that I will assuredly confer a great benefit upon the state. Those with the king, with (p) their heads uncovered, charged the ranks of the Greeks. He told me that the ships were lost, together with their crews. He told me that, but for the general the ships would have been lost, together with their crews. Are you not trying (me), whether I am mad παίζω, παίξυμαι, -οθμαι, πέπαισμαι. Επαισα. Later writers have Επαιξα, πέπαιγμαι. (Β.)

^t Imperf. of είμι, ibo.

 σειρᾶσθαι takes gen., seldom acc. (Thue. i. 71.)

325. c)? You are not trying (me) whether I am mad, are you? Is he distinguished from wother people by (his) wisdom, or (his) temperance, or both (350. c)? Are you joking, or are you mad? Cyrus set out just as he was, with five horsemen. He went and gave (350. h) all his possessions to his neighbour. I have long been wondering at the shamelessness of this flatterer (350. f).

§ Ed. Various Constructions continued.

353. a) With δίκαιος, άξιος, &c., the personal construction is preferred to the impersonal.

354. b) boor is used elliptically with the infinitive.

355. c) Some words that imply a comparison (e.g. φθάνειν, διαφέρειν, έναντίος, διπλάσιος, ίδιος, ὑπερθεν, πρίν) often take the construction with η.

356. e) The verb moier is often admitted after order αλλο * $\tilde{\eta}$ —, αλλο τι $\tilde{\eta}$ —; τί αλλο $\tilde{\eta}$ —; &c.

357. f) A person's quoted words, when quoted exactly as he uttered them, are introduced by $\delta \tau \iota$.

REM. Here the Greek idiom differs from our own: we omit 'that' when a person's words are quoted exactly, and insert it when not.

357*. g) After $\tau i \circ \dot{v}^{\gamma}$ —; (in questions) the aor. appears to be used for the present.

358. α) δίκαιός είμι τοῦτο πράττειν (= δίκαιόν έστιν

[▼] Does he differ from . . . ?)

^{*} When the άλλο is spelt with an apostrophus in this phrase, it mostly drops its accent, and thus looks like the abbreviated άλλά, but. The accent was dropt, because in some very similar phrases the άλλ' is άλλά: and in some others it is difficult to say whether it stands for ἄλλο or ἀλλά. Wherever it certainly stands for ἄλλο, it should retain its accent. (See 364, note a.)

τί οὖν, ἔφη, οὐ διηγήσω μοι; quin tu mihi narres? "Hæc interrogatio alacritatem quandam animi et aviditatem sciendi exprimit." (Weiske.)

ἐμὰ τοῦτο πράττειν), it is just (or right) that I should do this.

b) ἔφθασε τοσοῦτον ὅσον Πάχητα ἀνεγνωκέναι τὸ ψήφισμα, it arrived first (indeed), but only sufficiently so, for Paches to have had time to read out the decree.

c) φθάνεις έλκων ἢ τὰ πτηνὰ φεύγειν, you draw (your nets) before the birds fly away.

d) οὐχ αν φθάνοι ἀποθνήσκων, he will certainly die (or, be killed).

e) τί άλλο ούτοι $\hat{\eta}$ ἐπεβούλευσαν; what did these people do but plot?

- f) ἀπεκρίνατο ὅτι βασιλείαν οὐκ ᾶν δεξαίμην, he answered, "I would not receive a kingdom."
- g) τί οὐκ ἐποιήσαμεν; (why have not we done it? =) why don't we do it? Let us do it directly?

359. Vocabulary 58.

Exercise 65.

360. But for Xenoclides, the whole country would probably have been ravaged. But it is just that every man should defend the laws of his country. You do nothing but give orders. He answered, I should be a fool if (p) I were to do this. He answered, I will give you a portion of the food which I have myself. He went away before his friend arrived. It is right that every body should oblige such a man as you are. He answered, I have done more service to the state than any other single person. He answered, I will come to you if I am wanted. You do nothing but laugh at all the citizens. What do you do but hold all men cheap? He answered, I will collect as many men as I possibly can. He answered, I will come to you as quickly as possible, to (p) combat the faithful slave's disorder. He answered, if any body has done much service to the state, it is you. They arrived first, indeed, by just time enough to have destroyed those with the king (358. b). Why don't you make me also happy? Why don't you answer? He answered, if Xenoclides had not been present, the ships would have perished, together with their crews. If (p) you do this, you will certainly be the slave of your temper. If he were not ambitious, he would not undergo every labour.

That is, he cannot die too soon (for die he must). Buttmann gives a different explanation.

§ 59. List of Particles and short connecting and other Phrases.

Oss. Those with an asterisk cannot stand first in a sentence.

361. ἄγε δή, 'but come ;' 'come now.'

362. deí (Ion. and poet. alei, aler), always. ο αελ αργων, the archon for the time being: the person who at any time is archon.

363. ἄληθες (accented in this way), ironically, indeed?

itane?

364. ἀλλά, but. It is often used to introduce quick, abrupt retorts, objections, exhortations, &c. αλλ' ἀδύvaror, 'nay but, it's impossible' (or, why, it's impossible). ἀλλὰ βούλομαι, 'well, I will!' állá is also our 'but' = 'except' after general negatives: some case of allos generally stands in the preceding clause.

άλλ' ή, unless, except; nisi.

αλλο τι $\tilde{\eta}$ (or αλλοτι); used as an interrogative particle (316).

άλλως τε καί, especially, in particular.

365. ἄμα, at the same time (as prep. 'together with,' dat.) ἄμα followed by καί in the following clause; as soon as (omitting the καί.) The two assertions are marked out as occurring at the same time; and the particles may be variously translated, according to the view with which the coincidence is pointed out: no sooner—than; already—when; when—at once, &c.

366. ἀμέλει (properly the imperat. of ἀμελέω, don't mind, or be anxious about), as adv. doubtless, certainly.

367. *år, see 75: for šár, see 77.

368. ἄνα, · up! (for ἀνάστηθι, rise up!)

369. ard wr, because, for (267).

370. *ἄρα (ἄρ, ἐά, c in Epic poets), therefore, consequently, then.

1) It is also used where it seems to be without power, but indicates conformity with the nature of things or with custom; as might have been expected; ex ordine, rite. Hence it serves to mark a transition to an expected proposition.

b e. g. αμα dκηκόαμέν τι καὶ τριηράρχους καθίσταμεν. "Aμα is also used with the part. like μετάξυ: αμα ταῦτ' είπων ανέστη:

When prepositions are used alone as adverbs, and thus become equivalent to verbs, they throw back the accent.

• Enclitic.

a dλλ' ή has this meaning after negatives and questions that imply a negative. The dλλ' might sometimes be supposed άλλο, used elliptically; but frequently this is impossible; and it is better, therefore, to understand it always to be dλλά. (Krüger.)—A case of άλλος often stands already in the sentence. The construction probably arose from two nearly equivalent forms: οὐδλν ἄλλο—dλλά, and οὐδλν ἄλλο—ή. (K.)

d The old derivation from APΩ (to fit, trans. and intrans.) seems far preferable to Hartung's derivation from a common root with άρπάζω, rapio, repente. So Kühner.

2) After εἰ, ἐάν, &c. it has the force of indeed or perchance.—εἰ μὴ ἄρα (nisi forte) has often an ironical meaning; unless, forsooth.

371. are (with part.), as being (242. a).

372. *av (backwards), again; 2) on the other hand;

3) further; and then also.

373. *αὐτε, αὐτάρ (both Epic), and ἀτάρ, have the same meaning as αὖ. So also the poetical *αὐθις, Ion. αὐτις. (αὐτάρ and ἀτάρ begin a sentence or clause.)

374. αντως, thus (emphatical): 2) ut erat; of things in their original, unchanged state, or that are of common every-day occurrence; 3) it is attached to words expressing reproach, contempt, or neglect, e. g. childish, useless, vain, &c. Hence 4) it is used alone as equivalent to μάτην, idly, vainly, uselessly. It is a sister form of οντως. (B).

Γ.

375. *γάρ (γε ἄρα), for.

It often refers to a short sentence to be mentally supplied (such as, I believe it; no wonder. &c.) In questions it answers pretty nearly to our 'then,' and implies surprise (= why? what?)

τί γάς; quid enim? or quidni enim? = certainly, to be sure.

πῶς γάς; (Att.) is an emphatic denial = by no means.

376. *γέ (a strengthening particle), at least, at all events, certainly.

f Aρa, the interrog. particle, stands first in its sentence. "Attic poets, however, allow themselves to interchange the quantity, and use dρa for consequently, ἄρα as the interrog. particle; but without altering the proper place of each." (B.)

Hermann, on the other hand, says, that it should always be written a τως in Homer; and Hartung thinks Buttmann's a strange mistake, the derivation being from αυτός, he and no other, self (so that αῦτως = thus and in no other way). He considers that the rough breathing is only a dialectic peculiarity. αῦτως Æol., αῦτως Att. (Eustath.)

Especially after τίς; πότε; πῶς; &c.
 For which γοῦν is more commonly used.

It adds strength and emphasis to the word to which it is added, answering the same purpose that an elevation of the voice does in speaking, or italics in a printed passage. It is used in rejoinders and answers, either to confirm or to restrict; also in exhortations to make them more impressive.

έγωγε, I for my part—είκότως γε, quite naturally —πάνν γε, quite so, certainly.

γὲ δη, certainly.

γέ τοι, yet at least; at least however; however.
γὲ μήν (certe vero; vero), certainly however; but yet; hence it is also a strengthened δέ.

1.

377. διότι (= διὰ τοῦτο ὅτι), because: but later writers often use it for ὅτι, that.

378. *δέ (see μέν) has three meanings of and, but, for

[the last in the old writers only].

379. *δή, a strengthening particle, properly now (for which ήδη is used); it is employed in various ways to enliven a speech:—

ἄγε δή, φέρε δή, come now! τί δή; what then?

It also means truly, for sooth. After relatives it has the force of our 'ever.' $\delta \sigma u s \delta \dot{\eta}$, whoever it may be, &c. It often follows superlatives.

380. *δήπου (confirms a conjecture proposed. M.): it is a more emphatical πού (see πού), I imagine or suppose; doubtless.

*δήπουθεν is used to hint, with a little irony, that the contrary is impossible.

1 It is only in Homer and Pindar that of stands at the beginning of a proposition or clause. (M.)

Interest hoc inter γὲ δή et γέ τοι, quod δή sententiam per γέ restrictam simpliciter confirmat, τοί autem eam sententiam indicat oppositam esse præcedentibus quodammodo. Hinc γὲ δή est sane quidem, enimvero; γέ τοι autem certe quidem (Herm.)

* $\delta \tilde{\eta} \vartheta \varepsilon_{\sigma}$ has also the ironical force of $\delta \acute{\eta}$, for sooth. (M). * $\delta \tilde{\eta} \varepsilon \alpha$, like $\delta \acute{\eta}$, is used in assuring and confirming (surely, certainly).

E.

381. if; 2) whether; and 3) after some verbs of feeling, that. (See 333.)

ς εί καί, if even, although.

{ xai si, even if, even though.

ei γάρ, O that !—a wish; like είθε.

εί μή, unless.

ei μη διά, but for.

it is used as equivalent to ootic, with more emphasis; whoever, whatever.

382. $\frac{\epsilon l \tau \alpha}{\epsilon_{\pi \epsilon \iota \tau \alpha}}$ (1) afterwards, thereupon; 2) then.

They are used in scolding, reproachful questions (see 315), and often with verbs, to refer emphatically to a preceding participle.

383. ἔνθα, demonstr., here, there; but also, and in prose generally, relat. where.  ἐνθάδε, demonstr., here; hither.

ἐνταῦθα (Ion. ἐνθαῦτα), here.

Erder, hence, thence, whence: erderde, hence.

ένθεν μέν—ένθεν δέ (hinc—illinc), on the one side —on the other.

ร์งประหนา รังประห (hinc illinc; ab utraque parte), on this side and that; on both sides.

ive vo ver, hence, thence.

(All these words relate also to time.)

384. inei, after; 2) since, quoniam.

Before interrogatives and the imperat., it has the meaning of for; for else.

[🖷] ο ο ο ο υ α με ν ο ι ε ο ρείν τας ο ο ο ο ος, είτα πλανώμενοι απώλοντο.

But live or live of may stand at the beginning of periods for ibi, there or then.

incion has the same meanings, but in is far oftener used in the sense of since.

385. έστε (= ές ὅτε†), until, as long as.

386. Én, yet, still, further.

οὐχέτι, μηχέτι, no more, no longer.

387. ἐφ' φ̄, · on condition that: ἐφ' φ̄τε, the same but generally with the infinitive.

H.

388. $\tilde{\eta}$, or ; in comparisons, than.

389. η, truly, certainly: but generally a mere interrogtive particle [—ne, but only in direct questions]. η μήν assuredly, in asseverations, promises, &c.

390. ήδη, now, already. Also, 'without going any further.'

391. $\eta_{\nu} = i \dot{\alpha}_{\nu}$ (see 77). This is the form used by the Attic poets for $i \dot{\alpha}_{\nu}$: never $\ddot{\alpha}_{\nu}$.

Θ.

392. *θήν (enclit.), I should imagine; surely; in ironical, sarcastic speeches. οὐ θήν, ἢ θήν. It is peculiar to Ionic and Doric poets.

I.

393. wa, where; 2) in order that."

^{- 9} πάνυ γάρ μοι δοκεῖ ή δη πολλοῦ ἄν ἄξιος εἶναι ἐπίτροπος, ὢν τοιοθτος. Can

[†] This derivation seems disproved by such passages as Xen. An. iv. 5, 6: ἐστε ἐπὶ τὸ δάπεδον, usque ad. I believe it to be ἰς with the old connective τέ. See τέ.

[•] Here ἐφ' ῷ (properly=ἐπὶ τούτῳ δ—) is equivalent to ἐπὶ τούτῳ ὡς—.
P It retains this meaning in questions: πόθεν ῆκει; ἢ ὁῆλον ὅτι ἐξ ἀγορῶς; where is he come from? or is it plain that he is come from the market-place (and so the question unnecessary)?

[&]quot; Iva (=in which case) goes with indic. of a past tense to express what would have happened, if, &c. Ιν' ξ'ν τυφλός. Ιν' είχον, Φc.

K.

394. xaí, 1) and (2) also, even.

τέ—καί, both—and, or and also: as well—as. [But these particles are often used where we should only use 'and.'] naì ei, nar ei: see under ei.

καὶ μάλα, before these words καὶ has a peculiar καὶ πάνν. energy.

καὶ μήτ, (immo,) well! certainly! 2) (atqui), and yet.

καίπερ, although.

καὶ ταῦτα (idque), and that too.

xuívoi, and certainly; 2) and yet certainly; and yet; 3) although.

καί (also) often seems to be superfluous in familiar conversation: ἴνα καὶ εἰδῶ, that I may know, &c.

καί is used in questions, to imply that nothing can be expected, &c. It may be often translated by at all, possibly. τί χρη προσδοκᾶν; asks for information, but τί χρη καὶ προσδοκᾶν; 'what can one possibly expect?' implies that nothing can possibly be expected.

καί—δέ. When καί and δέ come together in a proposition, καί is also: but the two are often used where we should use 'and also.'

395. , , an enclitic particle, used by the Epic poets for a.

M.

396. μά, not by—; a particle of swearing. It has a negative force when alone, but may have either vaior or où (yes or no) with it.

397. μάλιστα μέν—εἰ δὲ μή, &c. = if possible—but if not, &c.—mentioning what is best to be done, and also what is the second best, if that is not feasible.

[&]quot; With numerals, words of time, &c. μάλιστα (about) signifies that

398. µãllor đé, or rather.

* $\mu\acute{e}_{r}$, indeed—answered by $\delta\acute{e}$ (but), or sometimes by αλλά, μέντοι, &c.

The answering de is sometimes omitted:—

1) When the opposition is clearly marked without it: e.g. by naturally opposite words, such as adverbs of place and time, with an opposite meaning: here—there; in the first place—secondly.

2) When the opposition is suppressed: chiefly when personal and demonstrative pronouns are used with uév at the beginming of a proposition. Thus, έγω μέν, equidem.

400. *μέντοι, to be sure; 1) I allow; 2) but indeed, however.

401. $\mu \dot{\eta}$, not; 2) lest, or that not; 3) that (after verbs of fearing, &c.) In questions it expects the answer 'no,' being somewhat stronger than $\mu \tilde{\omega} \nu$; (num?) After some verbs (e. g. restrain, prevent, forbid, deny, &c.) it is used where it seems to be superfluous, from our using no negative particle.

μη ού: see § 49.

402. μηδέ, δες οὐδέ. μήτε,

403. * $\mu \dot{\eta} \nu$, 1) truly, indeed; 2) but indeed, yet. τί μήν; why not?

404. μήτε γε, (nedum) much less.

N.

405. $\gamma \dot{\eta}$, 'by,' in oaths (with acc.)

the statement made is nearly exact (according to the belief of the speaker), without pretending to be quite so.

t μέν and δέ are much more frequently used than indeed—but, which always express a strong opposition, whereas the Greek particles connect any different propositions or notions. Thus a section, chapter, or even part of a whole work, often ends with (for instance) καὶ ταῦτα μὲν οὕτως έγίνετο: when the next chapter will necessarily begin with something like τη δ' ύστεραία (on the following day). It is only when the context 406. *νύ, νύν (enclit. τ), properly the same as νῦν, for which it sometimes stands; 2) for οὖν, then, now. 407. νῦν δή, now; 2) with a past tense, just now.

408. ὁ μέν—ὁ δέ, the one—the other. οἱ μέν—οἱ δέ, some—others.

ό μέν, ὁ δ' οὖ often stands alone in reference to a preceding proposition. πάντας φιλητέον, ἀλλ' οὖ τὸν μὲν τὸν δ' οὖ, we must love all, and not (love) one man indeed, but not another. παρῆσαν οὖχ ὁ μὲν ὁ δ' οὖ, ἀλλὰ πάντες.

409. δ δέ (quod vero est), after which the τοῦτό ἐστι is omitted.

410. οθούνεκα (= ὅτον ἕνεκα), because, that, in the Tragic poets.

411. οίος (ποιεῖν), of a kind or character (to do, &c.) οίος τε, able, possible. οίον εἰκός, as is natural; as one may (or might) suppose.

412. ὁπότε, when, whenever; 2) since: as quando, quandoquidem are used for quoniam.

413. ὅπου, where (there were); 2) since (siquidem).

414. ὅπως, as adv., how; 2) conjunct., in order that, that. ὅπως ἔσεσθε, see that you be = a strong imperative.

415. ὅσαι ἡμέραι or ὁσημέραι, daily; properly, as many days as there are.

δσος follows θαυμαστός and superlatives of quality. πλεῖστα ὅσα οτ ὅσα πλεῖστα, quam plurima: θαυμαστόν ὅσον, mirum quantum.

οσον οὐ (or ὁσονού), all but.

416. ὅτε, when. ὁτὲ μέν—ὁτὲ δέ,▼ sometimes—sometimes.

Whenever the forms rors, ors are used twice (sometimes only

For δ μέν—δ δέ we sometimes find δς μέν—δς δέ.

[▼] δ δί πάντων δεινότατον (but what is the most terrible thing of all, is this).

417. on, that (instead of Lat. acc. with infin.); 2) because, for διὰ τοῦτο ὅτι, i. e. διότι.

on also strengthens superlatives, and is used to introduce a quotation in the very words of the speaker, where we use no conjunction (see 358. f.)

οτι μή, after negatives, except.

418. où, not: in questions it requires the answer 'yes.'

(ή) ού διάλνσις =the non-destruction.

οὐ γὰρ ἀλλά is commonly used in the sense of 'for,' with increase of emphasis, q. d. 'for it is no otherwise, but.' (M.)

ου μή: see 287.

οὐ μήν, yet not, but not; 2) as a negative protestation. See $\tilde{\eta} \mu \tilde{\eta} \nu$.

οὐ μὴν ἀλλά (or οὐ μέντοι ἀλλά), properly, 'yet not!'
—but;' it has generally the force of yet, however; sometimes of rather, much more.

οὐ πάνυ, by no means.

ού φημι, I say (that) not; deny, refuse.

419. οὐχ ὅτιˇ—ἀλλὰ καί, not only—but also. οὐχ ὅτι—ἀλλ' οὐδέ, not only—but not even. οὐχ ὅπως—ἀλλὰ καί, not only not—but also.

où o o o and où o o are also found for où o o and ούχ ὅπως respectively.

ovo ws, not even so. See ws.

421. *οὖν, therefore, then. It gives to relatives (ὁστισοῦν, &c.) the force of the Lat. cunque, (ever, soever).

once) for $\pi \circ \tau \ell - \pi \circ \tau \ell$, sometimes—sometimes, they are accented $\tau \circ \tau \ell - \ell$, $\delta \tau \ell - \ell$. (B.)

^{*} When $\mu \hat{\eta}$ $\delta \tau \iota$, $\mu \hat{\eta}$ $\delta \pi \omega \varsigma$ begin the sentence, $\delta \pi \circ \beta \delta \lambda \eta$ $\tau \iota \varsigma$ may be supplied; or they may be understood like the Latin ne dicam, and are thus stronger than the preceding expressions, but both in a negative sense.

I ow is often used to resume a speech that has been interrupted by a parenthesis (=I say.)

1) oùxoù, properly an interrogative of inference, as oùxoù sundes rouro; 'is not this, then, foolish?' But generally the interrogative force, and with it the negation vanishes, and oùxoù is to be translated simply by 'therefore,' and begins a clause."

2) ovxove is a strengthened negative; not in the least.—In the meaning 'therefore not,' without a question, it is better written ovx over.

422. $ovn\omega$, never yet.

οὐδέποτε, never, is used of both past and future time; οὐδεπώποτε, only of past time. (See πώ.)

П.

423. *πέρ (enclit.), quite: used nearly like γέ, to strengthen a preceding word. It is frequently appended to relatives, and adverbs of time, cause, and condition. Thus ὅσπερ properly means 'exactly as.'

It is derived, probably, from nequ, in the sense of 'very.'

424. πη μέν—πη δέ (not πη μέν—πη δέ, Hermann), partly—partly.

425. πλήν, except: as conjunction, or preposition with gen.: πλην εί, except if.

126. πολλάχις, often, after εί, ἐάν, μή, has sometimes the meaning of (forte) perhaps, perchance,

427. *ποτέ (enclit.), at any time. With interrogatives it expresses surprise: τίς ποτε; who in the world?

428. *πού (enclit.), somewhere; 2) perchance, perhaps;
3) I imagine, used in conversation when any thing is assumed in a half-questioning way, that the speaker may build something on the assent of the person appealed to.

429. πρός σε θεῶν, I adjure you by the gods (ἐκετεύω is generally omitted in this form of adjuration).

^{*} οὐκοῦν, extra interrogationem, acerbam interdum habet ironiam. (Bremi, Dem. p. 238.)

430. πρὸ τοῦ (better προτοῦ), before this or that time (= πρὸ τούτου οι ἐκείνου τοῦ χρόνου). b

431. *πώ (enclit.), \ till now, hitherto: but they are *πώποτε, \ never joined to affirmative propositions in this sense.

οῦπω, μήπω, never yet, not yet. πώποτε is seldom annexep to the simple οὐ, μή, but to οὐδέ, μηδέ. The form without πώ (οὐδέποτε, never) is commonly employed only generally or with respect to the future. Both πώ and πώποτε may be separated from the negative particle by other words between.

These particles are also used with relatives, interrogatives, and participles used as equivalent to relative sentences. With these words there is no negative expressed, but the notion of a negative lies at the bottom of them all.

τίς πω ;--όσα πώποτε ήλπίσαμες, &c.

432. πώμαλα, d properly, how so? how then? hence, by no means.

T.

433. τὰ μέν—τὰ δέ, partly—partly (adverbially).

434. *τ' ἀρα or τ' ἄρ (poetical), ἄρα strengthened by τοί.

435. *τέ (que). See καί.

In the old language (as we find it in the Epic poets) to seems to impart to many pronouns

It answers exactly to our 'before this,' 'before that.'

[•] Not to be confounded with Homer's οξπω, μήπω=οξπως, μήπως, in no way, by no means.

d For πῶς μάλα; (B.) Others say for πῶ μάλα;—πῶ being a rather uncommon Doric form for πόθεν; and particles the connecting power, which they afterwards retained in themselves without the particle.

Thus we find μέν τε, δέ τε, γάρ τε, &c., and even χαί τε.

Especially the particle is found after all relatives, because these in the old language were merely forms of the pronoun demonstrative, which through this té obtained the connecting power (and this), and thus became the relative (which). As soon, however, as these forms were exclusively allotted to the relative signification, the particle té was dropt as superfluous. Hence we often find in Homer os te, osot te, &c. for os, osot, and the like. The particles oste, ate, and the expressions osos te, èq of te are remains of the ancient usage.

436. τη μέν—τη δέ, in one place and another; here—there; in one respect—but in another.

437. ví, in some respect, in any respect, at all. ví μήν; why not?

438. o often introduces a statement opposed to what has been said before, and may be translated by (quum tamen) whereas, but however, or sometimes, but rather. (See Heindorf, Theæt. 37.)

τὸ δέ with the superlat. often stand alone, with the omission of τοῦτό ἐστιν. τὸ δὲ μέγιστον πάντα ταῦτα μόνος κατειργάσατο, but the greatest thing is

(this), that, &c. (See $\delta \delta \epsilon$ —.)

439. *τοί (enclit.), properly an old dat. for τῷ, meaning therefore, certainly. But these meanings have disappeared, and τοί has only a strengthening force: it † τὸ δ' οῦ δεῖ, ὡς, &c —quum tamen non oporteat.

It is often added to πάνη, σχέδον, οὐδέν.

According to Hartung, $\tau o i$ has not a strengthening but a restrictive meaning, which, however, often comes to the same thing: e.g. interva $\tau o i$ o' av, I would have killed you, and nothing else=I would assuredly have killed you. Nagelsbach thinks it the old dat. of the pronounce of (τi) .

is frequently used with personal pronouns, and in maxims, proverbs, &c.

*roiver, therefore, then, now, so now. It is also used when a person proceeds with an argument; now, further, but now. Besides this it is frequently used in objections, either in a continued narrative, or more commonly in replies: why or why then. [Very seldom as the first word of a clause. P.]

τοίγαρ (ergo), therefore.

τοιγάρτοι and τοιγαρούν, therefore, even therefore, and from no other cause, precisely for that reason.

440. τοτὲ μέν—τοτὲ δέ, at one time—at another.

441. τούνεκα (Epic), on that account; therefore.

442. τοῦτο μέν—τοῦτο δέ, on the one hand—on the other.

443. $\tau \tilde{\varphi}$, therefore.

Ω.

444. ως (relat. adv.), as (as if, so as); 2) of time, as, when; 3) with numerals, about; 4) it strengthens superlatives, especially of adverbs, and some positives.

 $\dot{\omega}_{\mathcal{S}}$ (prepos. = $\dot{\omega}_{\mathcal{S}}$), to, with acc.: but only of living ώς (conjunc.), that; 2) in order that, with subj., opt., or fut. indic.: 3) so that, with infin., more commonly ωστε: 4) since; 5) quippe, for.

ώς ἔνι ' (= ώς ἔνεστι, as it is possible) is used with superlatives: ώς ἔνι μάλιστα, as far as it is any way possible.

ws enos eineir, so to say.

ώς συνελόντι (sc. λόγω) είπεῖν, to be short; in a word. [For which συνελόντι είπεῖν, and συνελόντι alone are found.]

[•] See note on δτε.

i When prepositions are employed instead of the compounds of cival, or rather when, this verb being omitted, they stand alone as adverbs, the accent is thrown back on the first syllable. See ava.

అండ్ (with accent) = $o\tilde{v}r\dot{\omega}\varsigma$, thus. It is common in the poets, especially the Ionians; but in prose is found only in $o\tilde{v}\delta$ $\tilde{\omega}\varsigma$, xai $\tilde{\omega}\varsigma$.

άμφί, on both sides.

artí, against, marking opposition.

ἀνά, tup; back again.

διά (dis) marks separation; taking apart or aside.

iv, often into.

κατά, down; it often implies completion, and hence, 2) ruin, destruction (answering in both to per).

μετά (trans) marks transposition, change.
παρά sometimes signifies (like præter) missing or doing amiss. παραβαίνειν, to transgress, &c.

With βαίνειν, &c. dvá, up, and κατά, down, mean respectively into the interior, and down to the coast.

¹ Hence κατά is sometimes equivalent to up in English: καταφαγεῖν, to eat up.

QUESTIONS ON THE SYNTAX.

OBS. Words in SMALL CAPITALS are to be translated into Greek.

- $1.—1. What is the difference between the imperf. and the aor.? [The Aorist is used of momentary and single actions: the Imperfect of continued and repeated ones.] 2. What English tense does the aor. most nearly answer to? [Our perfect indefinite (the perf. formed by inflexion).] 3. Is the aor. ever used for the perf.? [Yes,* when the connection of the past with the present is obvious from the context.] 4. Where is a governed gen. often placed? [Between an article and its noun.] 5. How do you render oi noárrorres? [Those who do.] 6. To what is the artic. with a participle equivalent? [To a personal or demonstrative pronoun with a relative sentence.]
- $2.—7. Do proper names ever take the artic.? [Yes.]
 8. When? [When they are the names of persons well known.]
 9. When is a proper name generally without the art.? [When it is followed by a description which has the article.] 10. Is there an indef. art. in Greek? [No.] 11. By what pron. may 'a' sometimes be translated? [By rig.] 12. When? [When we might substitute 'a certain' for 'a.'] 13. Which generally has the art., the subject or the predicate (i. e. the nom. before or the nom. after the verb)? [The subject.]
- $3.—14. Your slave. [ὁ σὸς δοῦλος.] 15. Is the art. ever equivalent to a possessive pron.? [Yes, when it is quite obvious whose the thing in question is.] 16. When must the pronouns be used? [Whenever there is any opposition (as, when mine is opposed to yours or any other person's)]. 17. When an adj. without the article stands before the art. of the substantive, from what does it distinguish that substantive? [From itself under other circumstances.] 18. My father and my friend's. [ὁ ἐμὸς πατής, καὶ ὁ τοῦ φίλου.]

^{*} And even for the pluperfect.

$4.—19. The son of Philip. [ὁ Φιλίππου: νίος, son, understood.] 20. Into Philip's country. [εἰς τὴν Φιλίππου: χώραν, country, understood.] 21. How does it happen that the article often stands alone? [In consequence of the omission of a noun or participle.]

$5.—22. What is often equivalent to an adjective? [An adverb with the article.] 23. The men of old. [οἱ πάλαι, the long ago men.]

$6.—24. How did the Greeks express 'she has a very beautiful head?' [She has the head very beautiful.] 25. Distinguish between τὸ καλόν and τὰ καλά. [τὸ καλόν, is: 'the beautiful,' 'the honorable,' in the abstract; beauty. τὰ καλά, are: beautiful (or honorable) things; whatever things are beautiful; what is beautiful; or simply, beautiful things.] 26. How is the first pers. pl. of the subj. often used? [In exhortations.] 27. What is 'not' in an exhortation of this kind? [μή.] 28. How may the infin. become (virtually) a declinable substantive? [By being used with the article.] 29. Do abstract nouns and names of materials generally take the art.? [Yes.] 30. When does a noun (whether sing. or plur.) always take the art.? [When a whole class, or any individual of that class, is meant.]

§ 7.—31. ὁ μέν—ὁ δέ: οἱ μέν—οἱ δέ. [(this—that; the one—the other) (these—those; some—others.)] 32. How does ὁ δέ stand once in a narrative? [For but or and he or it: the article being here a pronoun.] 33. How καὶ ος? [For 'and he:' but only when the reference is to a person.] 34. When is αὐτός self? [αὐτός is 'self,' when it stands in the nom. without a substantive, or in any case with one.] 35. When is it him, her, it, &c.? [αὐτός is him, her, it, &c. in an oblique case without a substantive.] 36. When is αὐτός same? [ὁ αὐτός is 'the same.'] 37. Does αὐτός standing alone in an oblique case, ever mean self? [Yes, when it is the first word of the sentence.]

$8.—38. Does a noun with ovros, ode, exeros, take the art. or not? [Yes.] 39. Where does the pron. stand? [Either before the article, or after the noun.] 40. What does nãs in the sing. mean without the art.? ['each,' 'every.']—what with the art.? ['the whole:' 'all.']

$ 9.—41. In the reflexive pronouns (ἐμαυτοῦ, &c.) is the αὐτός emphatic? [No.] 42. How must thyself (in acc.) be translated when it is emphatic? [avrós must precede the pronoun, avròv oś. &c.] 43. How do you translate 'own' when it is emphatic? [By the genitive of the reflexive pronouns èµavrov, osavrov, èavrov.]—how his, theirs, &c.? [By the gen. of avrós.] 44. Does èavrov ever stand in a dependent sentence for the nom. of the principal one? [Yes.] 45. What pronouns are often used instead of a case of èavrov, to express, in a dependent clause, the subject of the principal sentence? [The simple avróv, or é, (ov, oi,—opeis, opās, &c.)] 46. Is ov ever simply reflexive in Attic prose? [No.*] 47. To what Attic prosewriter are the forms, ov, é confined? [To Plato.]

$ 10.—48. How is the neut. plur. of an adjective, standing without a noun, generally translated into English? [By the singular.] 49. How is the neut. art. with a gen. case, used? [To denote any thing that relates to, or proceeds from, the thing in question.] 50. How are neut. adjectives often used? [Adverbially.] 51. When is the neut. singular generally used adverbially? [When the adj. is of the comparative degree.] 52. When the neut. plur.? [When the adjective is of the superlative degree.] 53. Does a predicative adjective ever not agree in gender with the substantive it refers to? [Yes; when the assertion is made of a class or general notion; not of a particular thing.] 54. In what gender do πολύς (πλέων, πλεῖστος) and ημισυς stand, when followed by a gen.? [In the gender of the gen. that follows them.]

$11.—55. In what number does the verb generally stand, when the nom. is a neut. plur.? [In the singular.] 56. What exception is there? [When persons or living creatures are spoken of.] 57. Mention some predicates with which the copula is very often omitted?

(άξιος and χαλεπόν, θέμις, ώρα, φρούδος, ανάγκη, ὁμόδιον, and δυνατός (with its opposite word), and ετοῖμος.)

§ 12.—58. Do the moods of the aor. refer to past time? [No.] 59. How do the moods of the aor. differ from the moods of the present? [The moods of the aorist express momentary actions;

^{*} That is, of, &c. is not used by prose-writers in a principal sentence, to express the subject of such sentence: its place is in a dependent or accessory clause, to express the subject of the principal clause.

those of the present, continued ones.] 60. Does the part. of the aor. refer to past time? [Yes.] 61. Are the moods of the aor. rendered by the pres. in English? [Yes.] 62. When $\mu\eta$ forbids, what moods does it take? [un when it forbids, takes the imperative of the present, the subjunctive of the aorist.] 63. What is the difference between $\mu \dot{\eta}$ with imperat. pres. and $\mu \dot{\eta}$ with the subj. aor.? [With the subj. aor. a definite single act is forbidden; with imper. pres. a course of action. The imperat., therefore, often forbids a man to do what he has already begun.] 64. Of what tense is the optative the regular attendant? [The optative is the regular attendant of the historical tenses.*] 65. What mood is the subj. after a pres. or fut. turned into, when instead of the pres. or fut. an historical tense is used? [The optative.] 66. When do the particles and pronouns, which go with the indicative in direct narration, take the optative? [The particles and pronouns which go with the indicative in direct, take the optative in oblique narration.†]

\$13.—67. How is an assertion modified by the use of $\tilde{\alpha}v$, or in Epic poetry $x\acute{e}$, $x\acute{e}v$. [$\tilde{\alpha}v$ gives an expression of contingency and mere possibility to the assertion.] 68. What is the principal use of $\tilde{\alpha}v$? [The principal use of $\tilde{\alpha}v$ is in the conclusion of a hypothetical sentence.] 69. When $\tilde{\alpha}v$ stands in a sentence which is not hypothetical, to what does it often refer? [To an implied condition.] 70. What particles are formed by the addition of $\tilde{\alpha}v$ to εi , $\tilde{\alpha}v\varepsilon$, $\tilde{\varepsilon}n\varepsilon i\tilde{\delta}\eta$? [$\tilde{\varepsilon}\acute{\alpha}v$, $\tilde{\eta}v$, $\tilde{\alpha}v$,— $\tilde{\delta}\tau\alpha v$, $\tilde{\varepsilon}n\varepsilon i\tilde{\delta}\acute{\alpha}v$.] 71. How is $\tilde{\alpha}v=\varepsilon i\tilde{\alpha}v$ distinguished from the simple $\tilde{\alpha}v$? [$\tilde{\alpha}v=\dot{\varepsilon}\acute{\alpha}v$, $\varepsilon i\tilde{\alpha}v$, regularly begins the sentence.] 72. What are the two meanings of εi ? [εi is 'if;' but like our 'if;' it is often used for 'whether.']

HYPOTHETICAL PROPOSITIONS.

73. 1) How is possibility without any expression of uncertaintainty, expressed? [si with indic. in both clauses.‡]

When φθάνω and λανθάνω are translated by adverbs, how must the participles with which they are connected, be translated? [By verbs.]

(Genitive Absolute, &c.)

\$42.—195. Which case is put absolutely in Greek? [The genitive.] 196. What does the participle, put absolutely, express? [The time, or generally any such relation to the principal sentence, as we should express by when, after, since, as, because, though, if, &c.] 197. In what case do the participles of impersonal verbs stand absolutely? [In the nominative; of course without a noun, and in the neuter gender.] 198. When the time relates to a person, what construction is used instead of the gen. absolute? [èni is then generally expressed.] 199. How is a motive, which is attributed to another person, generally expressed? [By the particle $\dot{\omega}_{\mathcal{S}}$ with the gen. or acc. absolute.]

(The Relative.)

$43.--200. What does the relative often introduce? [A cause, ground, motive, or design of what is stated.] 201. What use of the relative is less common in Greek than Latin? [That of merely connecting a sentence with the one before it.] 202. In which clause is the antecedent often expressed? [In the relative clause.] 203. Where does the relat. clause often stand, when this is the case? [Before the principal clause.] 204. With what does the relative often agree in case? [With the antecedent in the principal clause.] 265. What is this called? [Attraction of the Relative.] 206. When the relative is attracted, where is the antecedent often placed? [In the relative clause, but in the case in which it would stand in the principal clause.]

$44.--207. In such a sentence as "the sear, which we call bashfulness," should which agree with fear or with bashfulness? [With bashfulness.] 208. Explain estivos. [It is equivalent to evice, some, and may be declined throughout.] 209. What is the Greek for sometimes? [estivotal.]—somewhere? [estivotal.] 210. What is the English of eq of or eq otal? [On condition that.]—of and ov? [Because, for.]—of el tis? [Whosoever; el ti, whatsoever.] 211. By what parts of the verb is eq of or of the series.]

$ 46.—215. What is the construction of ovders overs ov?

^{$ 45.--212.} Give the English of τοῦ οιου σοῦ ἀνδρός. [Of such a man as you.] 213. How may this construction be explained? [ἀνδρὸς τοιούτου, οἰος σὰ εἶ.] 214. What words does ὅσος follow, when it has the meaning of very? [Such words as θαυμαστός, πλεῖστος, ἄφθονος, &c.]

[The declinable words are put under the immediate government of the verb.]

- § 47.—216. What tenses follow μέλλω in the infin.? [The future, present, or aorist.] 217. Which infin. is the most common after μέλλω, and which the least? [The future infin. is the most, the aorist the least common.]
- § 48.—218. What mood or tense follows ὅπως, when it relates to the future? [The subj. or the future indic.] 219. May it retain them in connection with past time? [Yes.] 220. Is the verb on which ὅπως &c. depends, ever omitted? [Yes: the construction is equivalent to an energetic imperative:—ὅρα οr ὁρᾶτε may be supplied.] 221. With what mood or tense is οὐ μή used? [With the fut. indic. or aor. subj.] 222. In what sense? [As an emphatic prohibition or denial.] 223. According to Dawes, what aorists were not used in the subj. with ὅπως and οὐ μή? [The subjunctive of the aor. 1. act. and mid.] 224. Is this rule correct? [No.] 225. What is Buttmann's opinion? [That the subj. of the aor. 2. was employed with a kind of predilection, and that, when the verb had no such tense, the fut. indic. was used in preference to the subj. of the aor. 1.]
- § 49.—226. How is $\mu\dot{\eta}$ used after expressions of fear, &c.? [With the subjunctive or indic.] 227. When is the indic. with $\mu\dot{\eta}$ used in expressions of fear? [When the speaker wishes to intimate his conviction that the thing feared, &c. has or will really come to pass.] 228. How does it happen that $\mu\dot{\eta}$ où sometimes stands with a verb in the subjunctive, but without a preceding verb? [The notion of fear is often omitted before $\mu\dot{\eta}$ où, the verb being then generally in the subj.] 229. After what kind of expressions is $\mu\dot{\eta}$ où used with the infin.? [After many negative expressions.]* 239. Is it ever used with the participle or infin.? and, if so, when? $[\mu\dot{\eta}$ où is sometimes used with the participle and with $\omega\sigma\tau\varepsilon$ and infin., after negative expressions.]
- \$50.—231. When is $\mu\dot{\eta}$ used with relative sentences, participles, adjectives, &c.? [Whenever the negative does not directly and simply deny an assertion with respect to some particular mentioned person or thing.] 232. Does the infin. generally take $\mu\dot{\eta}$ or $o\dot{v}$? [$\mu\dot{\eta}$.] 233. When does it take $o\dot{v}$? [When opinions or assertions of another person are stated in sermone obliquo.] 234. When should $\mu\dot{\eta}$ follow $\omega\sigma\tau\epsilon$? and when $o\dot{v}$? [With $\omega\sigma\tau\epsilon$, the infinitive takes $\mu\dot{\eta}$, the indicative $o\dot{v}$.]

$51.—235. What case do some adverbs govern? [The same case as the adjectives from which they are derived.] 236. How is ώς sometimes used? [As a preposition = πρός.] 237. When only can ώς be used as a prepos.? [It is only joined to persons.] 238. What mood do ἄρχι, μέχρι, ἔως, ἔστε take? [The subj. or opt. when there is any uncertainty; the indic. when not.] 239. Does πρὶν ᾶν ἔλθω relate to the past or the future? [To the future.] 240. How is 'before I came' expressed? [πρὶν ἢ ἐλθεῖν ἐμέ: πρὶν ἐλθεῖν ἐμέ: or πρὶν ἢλθον ἐγώ.] 241. Is ἢ ever omitted before the infin. after πρίν? [Yes; in Attic Greek nearly always.]

$ 52.—242. In what kind of questions is ᾱρα generally used? [In questions that imply something of uncertainty, doubt, or surprise.] 243. What interrog. particles expect the answer 'Yes?' [The answer 'Yes' is expected by,—ᾱρ' οὐ; η΄ γάρ; οὐ; οὕκουν; αλλο τι η΄;] 244. What expect the answer 'No'? [The answer 'No' is expected by,—ᾱρα μή; η΄ που; mum forte? μή οτ μῶν;] 245. What particles give an ironical force to οὐ? [δή, δή που.] 246. Does οὐ expect 'yes' or 'no' for answer? [οὐ expects yes; μή, no.] 247. In what kind of questions are εἶτα, ἔπειτα used? [Such as express astonishment and displeasure.] 248. What words are used as a simple interrog. particle? [α̃λλο τι η΄.] 249. Render τί παθών;—τί μαθών; τολα induces you to ... &c.?—τί μαθών; what induces you to ... &c.?

$53.—250. What are the proper forms of pronouns and adverbs for indirect questions? [Those which are formed from the direct interrogatives by the prefixed relative syllable δ —.] 251. Are the simple interrogatives ever used in indirect questions? [Yes.] 252. Are the relatives ever so used? [Yes; but very seldom.] 253. When the person addressed repeats the question, what forms does he use? [The forms beginning with δ —.] 254. When the pron. or noun is the acc. after one verb, and the nom. before the next, which case is generally omitted? [The nominative.]

$ 54.—255. By what particles are direct double questions asked? [By πότερον, ος πότερα,—η, less commonly by ἀρα—η.]

256. By what particles are indirect double questions asked? [είτε—είτε, εί—η, πότερον—η.]

$55.—257. After what verbs is εί used for ὅτι, that? [After θαυμάζω, and some other verbs expressive of feelings.] 258. After what verbs has εί the force of whether? [After verbs of seeing, knowing, considering, asking, saying, trying, &c.] 259. When is ἐάν used in this way? [When the question relates to an expected case that remains to be proved.]

$56.—260. How can an interrogative sentence be condensed in Greek? [By attaching the interrogative to a participle, or using it in an oblique case.] 261. What clause may thus be got rid of? [A relative clause attached to an interrogative

one.]

57.—262. What is $\tilde{\eta} \mu \dot{\eta} v$? [A solemn form of asseveration.] 263. When is the propos. σύν omitted? [Before αὐτῷ, $\alpha \dot{v} \tilde{v} \tilde{\eta}$, &c. which then = together with, with.] 264. How is $\dot{\alpha} \mu \phi \dot{\phi}$ τερον used? [άμφότερον is used adverbially, or elliptically, by the poets, for both; as well—as, &c.] 265. How αμφότερα? [In reference to two words, without being made to conform to them in case.] 266. What force has $\kappa \alpha i$, when it refers to $\tilde{\alpha} \lambda$ lace ? [The force of especially, in particular.] 267. Explain the use of the part. fut. with έρχεσθαι, &c. [έρχεσθαι, ιέναι, with part. fut., is, to be going to, or on the point of.] 268. How is έχω sometimes used with a past partic.? [As an emphatic circumlocution.] 269. How is it used with lyosiv, &c.? [exo with the second pers. of ληρεῖν, παίζειν, φλυᾶρεῖν, &c. is used to make a good-humoured observation.] 270. How is φέρων used in sions, but denotes a vehemence of purpose, not altogether free from blame.]

\$58.—271. To what is dixato's eime equivalent? [To dixato's ease, emission, emission, emission was are followed? [Soor is used elliptically with the infin.] 273. What words are followed by $\tilde{\eta}$? [Words that imply a comparison: e. g. $\varphi\theta$ are φ , diagéque, evartios, dinhause, idios, uneque, noir.] 274. After what phrases is a tense of noisir omitted? [After order ahlo $\tilde{\eta}$ —, ahlo re $\tilde{\eta}$ —; ri ahlo $\tilde{\eta}$ —; &c.] 275. By what are a person's quoted words introduced? [By ori.] 276. How is the aor. used with zí où? [For the present.]

THE END.

OLLENDORFF.—NEW GERMAN GRAMMAR.

A New Method of Learning to Read, Write, and Speak the German Language. By H. G. Ollendorff. Reprinted from the Frankfort edition; to which is added a Systematic Outline of the different Parts of Speech, their Inflection and Use, with full Paradigms, and a complete list of the Irregular Verbs. By G. J. Adler, Prof. of the German Language in the University of the City of New York. 12mo., $1,50.

"Ollendorff's New Method of Learning to Read, Write, and Speak the German Language, has had an extensive circulation in England, and its demand in this country also has constantly been increasing of late. Nor is its popularity undeserved; for it supplies a deficiency which has been long and deeply felt by all those who have engaged in either teaching or learning the German.

"The German has hitherto been treated too much like a dead language; and hence many, disgusted with the cumbrous terminology and crabbed rules which in the very outset met their eye, have given up the acquisition of the language in despair. Ollendorff has completely remedied this evil. Beginning with the simplest phrases, he gradually introduces every principle of Grammar; and he does it by interblending the rules with such copious exercises and idiomatic expressions, that, by a few months' diligent application, and under the guidance of a skilful instructor, any one may acquire every thing that is essential to enable him to read, to write, and to converse in the language." The Key to the above, in a separate volume, uniform; price 75 cents.

OLLENDORFF.—NEW FRENCH GRAMMAR.

A New Method of Learning to Read, Write, and Speak the French Language. By H. G. Ollendorff. With an Appendix, containing the Cardinal and Ordinal Numbers, and full Paradigms of the Regular and Irregular, Auxiliary, Reflective, and Impersonal Verbs, by J. L. Jewett. One volume, 12mo., $1,50.

"The plan pursued in teaching the French is substantially the same with that developed in the German Method. Avoiding the exclusively didactic character of the older treatises on the one hand, and the tedious prolixity of detail which encumbers modern systems on the other, Ollendorff combines and thoroughly teaches at once both the theory and practice of the language. The student who pursues his method will therefore be relieved from the apprehension of either forgetting his rules before practice has grounded him in their principles, or of learning sentences by rote which he cannot analyze. Speaking and writing French, which in other systems is delayed until the learner is presumed to be master of Etymology and Syntax, and consequently is seldom acquired, by this method is commenced with the first lesson, continued throughout, and made the efficient means of acquiring, almost imperceptibly, a thorough knowledge of grammar; and this without diverting the learner's attention for a moment from the language itself, with which he is naturally most desirous of becoming familiar.

The text of Ollendorff, carefully revised and corrected, is given in the present edition without abridgment. To this the American editor has added an Appendix, containing the cardinal and Ordinal Numbers, and full conjugation of all the Verbs. The work is thus rendered complete, and the presents of consulting other treations is wholly obviously?

the necessity of consulting other treatises is wholly obviated."

A Key to the above, in a separate volume, uniform; 75 cents.

OLLENDORFF.—NEW ITALIAN GRAMMAR.

A New Method of Learning to Read, Write, and Speak the Italian Language. By H. G. Ollendorff. With Additions and Corrections, by Felix Foresti, Prof. of the Italian Language in the University of the City of N. Y. One vol., 12mo. (In Press.)

M. Ollendorff's System, applied to the study of the Italian Language, possesses all the advantages of his method of learning the German and French, and will undoubtedly, as its merits become known, take the place of all other Grammars.

A Key to the above, in a separate volume, uniform.

REID.—A DICTIONARY OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE; Containing the Pronunciation, Etymology, and Explanation of all Words authorized by eminent writers; to which are added a Vocabulary of the Roots of English Words, and an accented list of Greek, Latin, and Scripture Proper Names. By Alexander Reid, A M, Rector of the Circus School, Edinburgh. With a Critical. Preface by Henry Reed, Prof. of Eng. Lit. in the Univ. of Pa. 12mo., near 600 p., $1.

The attention of Professors, Students, Tutors, and Heads of Families is solicited to this volume. Notwithstanding its compact size and distinctness of type, it comprises forty thousand words. In addition to the correct orthoppy, this manual of words contains four valuable improvements:—

I. The primitive word is given, and then follow the immediate derivatives in alphabetical order, with the part of speech appended.

II. After the primitive word is inserted the original term whence it is formed, with the name of the language from which it is derived.

III. There is subjoined a Vocabulary of the Roots of English words, by which the accurate of them is instantly discoverable.

IV. At accented List, to the number of fifteen thousand, of Greek, Latin, and Scripture Preper Names, is added.

SIRRENNE.—THE STANDARD PRONOUNCING DIC-TIONARY OF THE FRENCH AND ENGLISH LANGUAGES, in two parts. Part one, French and English; part two, English and French; the first part comprehending words in common use—terms connected with Science—terms belonging to the Fine Arts—4000 Historical names—4000 Geographical names—11,000 terms lately published, with the pronunciation of every word according to the French Academy, and the most eminent Lexicographers and Grammarians; together with 750 Critical Remarks, in which the various methods of pronouncing employed by different authors are investigated and compared with each other. The second part, containing a copious Vocabulary of English words and expressions, with the pronunciations according to Walker. The whole preceded by a practical and comprehensive system of French pronunciation. By Gabriel Surrenne, F.A.S.E., French Teacher in Edinburgh, Corresponding Member of the French Grammatical Society of Paris. One volume, 12mo., nearly 900 pages, neatly bound—$1,50.

"This work must have been one of very great labor, as it is evidently of deep research. We have given it a careful examination, and are perfectly safe in saying, we have never before seen any thing of the kind at all to compare with it. Our space will not permit us give more than this general testimony to its value. Long as the title is, and much as it promises, our examination of the work proves that all the promises are fulfilled, and we think that no student of the French language should, for a moment, hesitate to possess himself of it. Nor, indeed, will it be found less useful to the accomplished French scholar, who will find in it a fund of information which can no where be met with in any one book. Such a work has for a long time been greatly needed, and Mr. Surrenne has supplied the deficiency in a masterly style. We repeat, therefore, our well-digested opinion, that no one in search of a knowledge of the niceties of the French language, should be without it."—National Magazine for May, 1846.

TAYLOR.—A MANUAL OF ANCIENT AND MODERN HISTORY; comprising, I. ANCIENT HISTORY, containing the Political History, Geographical Position, and Social State of the Principal Nations of Antiquity, carefully digested from the Ancient Writers, and illustrated by the discoveries of Modern Scholars and Travellers.

II. Modern History, containing the Rise and Progress of the principal European Nations, their Political History, and the Changes in their Social Condition; with a History of the Colonies founded by Europeans. By W. Cooke Taylor, LL. D., of Trinity College, Dublin. Revised, with additions on American History, by C. S. Henry, D.D., Professor of History in the University of N. Y. One handsome vol., 8vo., of 800 pages, $2,25. 37 For convenience as a class-book, the Ancient or Modern portion can be had in separate volumes.

This Manual of History is fast superseding all other compends, and is already adopted as a text-book in Harvard, Columbia, Yale, New-York, Pennsylvania, and Brown Universities, and several leading Academies.

WARNER.—RUDIMENTAL LESSONS IN MUSIC.

Containing the Primary Instruction requisite for all Beginners in the Art, whether Vocal or Instrumental. By James F. Warner, translator of "Weber's Theory of Musical Composition," "Kübler's Anleitung zum Gesang-Unterrichte," [Boston Academy's Manual,] &c., &c. One vol., 18mo., cloth, 50 cents.

"We do not know how we can do a more substantial service to teachers and scholars in music vocal or instrumental, than by urging them to adopt this volume as a class book. It is full and complete on every topic connected with the subject, clear in its arrangement, and concise in expression. The illustrations are numerous and ingenious, and must prove very valuable aids to the learner, in comprehending the subject, as well as to the teacher in imparting instruction."—Tribune

WARNER.—FIRST STEPS IN SINGING.

The Primary Note Reader, or First Steps in Singing at Sight. By James F. War ner. 12mo., 25 cents.

This volume of musical exercises is designed as a supplement to the author's "Rudimental Lessons in Music." The two works, taken together, are intended to furnish the beginner in vocal music, with a complete set of books adapted to his purpose.

WRIGHT.—PRIMARY LESSONS:

In which a Single Letter is first Taught, with its power; then another Letter is faught in the same manner, and the two combined into a Word—an application of he letters being made in words as fast as they are learned. The words thus learned are arranged into easy sentences, so that the learner is immediately initiated into Reading Lessons. By Albert D. Wright, author of "Analytical Orthography," Propological Chart. & 2.
